

---

BYU Soccer Camp

Posted by B-Rex - 2007/07/15 18:09

---

I mentioned this on the American Football thread but my baby (now 14) was at the BYU soccer camp last week. He had a great time and actually was selected as an All Star.

His counselor was a freshman on the team and had just submitted his missionary application. He talked about soccer and missions. My kid just loved this player and this can only help me as I work to get him and his older brother on missions.

As a parent, I have no hesitation sending my children across the USA to go the BYU camps and EFY. It only reinforces my love for the institution and my respect for the athletics.

If you have kids...go for it.

=====