
You too can add articles - My Content

I got the feature that any registered user can submit articles working...thanks MajorCougar and A_King for asking about it.

It's been something that was planned and never finished.

Anyway all registered users should now have an additional menu item "My Content" which will show any articles you have written. There will be a secondary navigation link there that reads "Submit Community Article"

These submissions are not immediately posted but go into a review queue. We will post them as soon as possible.

You can upload photos to go with your article. Forum links from these articles are automatically created.

BYU's men's volleyball team leads Pepperdine 2-1 (30-28, 30-28, 30-32) and the game is moving so quickly while I type and retype this message that I'm going to report this score, hit and report after the next set, which is hopefully the last one.

GO COUGARS!!!

And we choke, which (aside from FB lately) seems to be common in BYU sports. Too bad. Better luck next year. They sure played pathetically the 4th game (were down 6 at the end) and 5th game (Lost 15-7)
