A big thanks to Cougar Nation

The Arizona game was my first game in nearly 20 years (when i was a kid living in AF and we had season tickets) My brother who is a student flew me and my family out from Texas and me and my wife went to the game with him, we both had a great time, made much better by the fact that they won of course, and I think maybe we will make it a tradition to try to make it out for a game every year. So thanks to everyone on Cougar Nation who made it a great experience for us. and also a huge thanks to my brother, who knows who he is :), for bringing us all out. Still planning on TCU next year bro

Please DO make it a tradition! I have to admit, I got a little teary seeing the Upper corners of the endzone full of fans ESPECIALLY before the kickoff!

I was very proud of CougarNation this weekend and the victory rewarded the good fans who made it out to the 100 degree heat day! :cheer:

Go Cougars against UCLA!

Tripwire, thank you for your service to our country. Football pales in comparison. I have a son and brother inlaw who have both served in Iraq. Be careful and be safe.

My brother-in-law and uncle both served 3 tours in Iraq...those guys deserve a stadium full of fans cheering them for their brave sacrifices, just as much as our heros on the field.

Tripwire--

Thanks for being a real hero. I have not served, but I am so grateful for those like you who have. Please accept my meaningless karma as a small thank you for your service. Good luck and godspeed!

Take care Tripwire. Glad it was worth your trip.

I have a brother active duty US ARMY 4ID, brother USAF ROTC, and a sister-in-law Air Nat'l Guard and I respect them all for their willingness to sacrifice.

Much Respect.

It was an awesome game last Saturday. The stands were full, a majority of the people were wearing blue, and 2 QB greats had the jerseys retired. And best of all, we won! Go cougars, I will be in california to cheer them on this weekend!

Amen to all that's been said, I have a cousin who was injured over there, he was one of the 3 profiled a while back on channel 2 for a home give away, some of you locals may recall those stories, anyway, thanks for your service.
