
BYU baseball extremely young

Posted by cougfan1 - 2007/10/01 12:52

I was just perusing the BYU baseball roster and noticed that BYU has no seniors on its team! It will be interesting to see how they perform this year. They have a lot of young talent. McNaughton, who was a Freshman All-American, is back from his mission. Let's see if Law can put it together and beat out TCU for the MWC championship. TCU has been the team to beat ever since they joined the MWC.

=====

Re:BYU baseball extremely young

Posted by rhpcougardad - 2008/01/02 15:38

You can count on BYU winning the MWC...projected season 40-20 and off to the NCAA regionals...young but talented and they will field better this year.

=====

Re:BYU baseball extremely young

Posted by Mars - 2008/01/04 02:45

I would count on TCU winning the MWC. ;)

And isn't Kasey Ko back? If so, he's not a senior?

My main worry would be the loss of some excellent pitching from last season.

And now I'm out of pseudo-intelligent things to say about BYU baseball. :laugh:

=====