
Chris Miles

Posted by rackem - 2007/10/19 20:45

I know this isn't a football story....

So I was coming out of the Marriott Center ticket office at 5:10 PM and the ticket booth was closed (they close at 5:00 sharp, I didn't get extra tickets to the EW game...)and Chris Miles walked out and greeted me by my car. Man that kid's tall, 6'11. He struck up a conversation out of the blue and told me a little about himself. I asked him if he would start this year and he kind of shrugged his shoulders and said before his mish to Portland OR he started a few games but wasn't clear where he stood with this team. I ask him about Portland and where he served and how he liked it. I told him my folks live in Astoria and he mentioned he served in Seaside for 6 months and enjoyed his time there. It was nice to put a face to the name I've heard about and get a one on one with him. I thought it was interesting when he said He thought "this team would win the conference but, it's hard to win both the conference and the tournament the same year."

I hope they do both.

I asked him if he was going to the Eastern Wash game tomorrow, he said "What time does it start? I told him and he said he would "be at practice for 3 hours but would try to make it if the game went long."

He's a nice and personable guy, I hope he does well in his sophomore year.

Rackem'

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by poppa - 2007/10/19 21:48

I like Miles also. He was one of the few players to show some genuine emotion Cleveland's last year when we were awful. He could have chosen a better way then kicking Bogut though.

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by detmer4prez - 2007/10/20 02:43

poppa wrote:

I like Miles also. He was one of the few players to show some genuine emotion Cleveland's last year when we were awful. He could have chosen a better way then kicking Bogut though.

Yeah, I think I would have either gone with a forearm shiver or tombstone piledriver. :lol:

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by Florwood - 2007/10/20 08:31

rackem wrote:

I know this isn't a football story....

So why didn't you put it under something else? "Basketball" comes to mind...

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by TRUEblueBYUfan - 2007/10/20 08:57

Florwood wrote:

rackem wrote:

I know this isn't a football story....

So why didn't you put it under something else? "Basketball" comes to mind...

Rackem prefaced the quote by his admission, he did mention football in the story, why take the "Captain Obvious" low road?

negitive karma to Florwood comes to my mind

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2007/10/20 09:07

Im with florwood on this one. THere is a catagory for basketball. PUt it under there. Go Cougars!

=====

Re:Chris Miles

Posted by domanater - 2007/10/20 09:08

I'm just glad he likes basketball, we've brought in our share of big men that don't seem like they care about improvement- Garner Meads, David Burgess, Derek Dawes. All showed flashes but none were gym rats tring to get better on a daily basis. Give me 2-3 Mekeli Wesleys and a couple Arajous and I'll bein hoops heaven.

On a football twist (just to make this thread "football" relevant) - any of our current recruits play high school hoops too? Adam Timo, Jake Murphy? etc.

=====