
A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2007/11/09 21:13

Torremight bring A-Rod. He ain't worth $350m, but perhaps another $120m over the next 5-6 seasons. Either way, the Dodgers need help with their offense, he would be a good addition.

=====

Re:A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2007/11/09 21:15

CougarPeasant wrote:

Torremight bring A-Rod. He ain't worth $350m, but perhaps another $120m over the next 5-6 seasons. Either way, the Dodgers need help with their offense, he would be a good addition.

I'm a die-hard Dodger fan. Grew up in the Lopes, Russel etc era. I'd be cool with A-Rod, but for the same price I think you could get Cabrera AND another starting pitcher, which we need too....

=====

Re:A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by mormonrasta - 2007/11/10 09:31

BoiseBYU wrote:

CougarPeasant wrote:

Torremight bring A-Rod. He ain't worth $350m, but perhaps another $120m over the next 5-6 seasons. Either way, the Dodgers need help with their offense, he would be a good addition.

I'm a die-hard Dodger fan. Grew up in the Lopes, Russel etc era. I'd be cool with A-Rod, but for the same price I think you could get Cabrera AND another starting pitcher, which we need too....

Yeah, but I'm hearing they might trade Broxton and Billingsley to get Cabrerra. I don't like that. I don't mind the Dodgers spending the cash for ARod.

=====

Re:A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2007/11/10 18:30

That would be a mistake! Billingsley is the real deal and Broxton a good set up guy.

=====

Re:A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2007/11/10 18:31

That would be a mistake! Billingsley is the real deal and Broxton a good set up guy.

=====

Re:A-Rod a Dodger?

Posted by dYrtbYkerYder - 2007/11/10 18:47

How does Joe Torre saying that A-Rod going to the Dodgers is possible make a news story. I'm sure every coach in the league would say the same thing but why doesn't that make headlines? BTW, A-Rod going to the Mexico City Toros is also possible... I just hate how some things are perceived as news when they aren't... Anyway, I like A-Rod, am an Angels fan, but would prefer they get Cabrera and sign him to an extension with big weight incentives :)

=====

