
Add Beck to my Fantasy Team?

Posted by Hawkwing - 2007/11/14 12:37

So Beck is starting this week, as we all know.

How much faith do we show in him?

Is anyone going to add him to their fantasy team? If so, what QB do you have that you will not play in honor of Beck?

I did it last week and it didn't help :unsure: Hopefully, since he is actually playing it will work out a little better for you.

Heck, I added him, I've got a man crush on Beck, Have for years. But, I'm in a tight race for the playoffs in my league and Derek Anderson is too hot to not play. Maybe if the dolphins as a team werent so awful, I'd play Beck, but I thought just adding him to my roster would be a good start.

haha, thats exactly what I did! I dropped the Bills D which I didn't need anymore cuz the cowboys had already had their bye week. anyways, I got him, I probably won't play him this week.... over rothlesburger who has turned it on the last couple weeks.

Beck over Manning

And before you go crazy, it's Eli, not the real Manning. Worth the change? Discuss.

I picked him up this morning and I'm starting him over McNabb and Kitna...

Because I think getting Andre Johnson back (w00t) and starting Stephen Jackson (instead of leaving him on the bench and starting LenDale White like a retard - :angry:) will offset any loss of production. McNabb has been so freaking streaky, same with Kitna, it never fails - after multiple weeks of ~200 yds and one TD or less, I bench them and they promptly go ~320/4 TDs.

So leap of faith, sure. But not as crazy as it looks on the surface, I don't think. Plus, they'll make me change my avatar if I don't play him this week :-).

Uh, Rams fan here. I wouldn't put any stock in SJ if I were you. One lucky win against the Saints just proves we don't have the worst O-line in history. But they are still criminally bad.

Um... Tony Romo and Drew Brees - Let's see Beck or no Beck? Answer: NO BECK! BTW, I'd start Kitna over Johnny Boy - no sense starting him in ANY scenario (I'd start D. McNabb over him too).

I drafted Beck with my last pick knowing that he would start someday. I'm starting him this week and hope he can get me some points!

I am dead last with no chance to move up I just picked him up (dropped Julius Jones, who I wasn't going to play anyway) and have him starting over Jason Campbell and Jay Cutler, Yes I'm probably leaving points on my bench, but, as I've said, I'm in last place, what can it hurt?

Besides, I've made it a goal to be in last place in the fantasy league, if not, I would have been spending wwwaaaayyyyyy too much time on it...

I guess I'm crazy. I picked John Beck with the #1 pick in my draft. I was afraid that my brother might take him. Yeah. I'll start Derek Anderson this week though..... :silly:
