

---

Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by domanater - 2007/11/25 08:58

---

I know a lot of people have been thinking this and a few saying it, but it's about time to show Airwolf the road.

For many of us BYU sports border on "sacred" and all Airwolf does is come here and spout insanity, hate, and anti-byu venom. Throw in his random non-sports posts, which are fairly anti-American, anti-church leadership and as nutty as a snickers bar, and you can see why he's a complete waste of bandwidth.

He's almost never right, and never manages to learn from his mistakes. I for one am sick of the guy being the black cloud that exists on this site for the soul purpose of boosting his little cathartic ego and running down our program, athletes, honor code, etc. His arguments are baseless and circular. He abuses the term "stats" with numbers that are illogical at best and confabulated at worst.

He has over 500 negative "karma" and it would be 2000 if half of us thought it would make a difference.

(personally, I think he's the soul reason that CougarPeasant doesn't have +100 karma right now-which he rightfully deserves, regardless of how ridiculous karma is)

I know this board is not a democracy and I trust there will be those "devil's advocate" souls that will continue to get his back a couple days after everything settles down when we manage to win, but his piss and vinegar act this week is the last straw for me. Ask yourself, how would he be acting had we lost to Arizona, got blown out by Louisville or North Carolina, or lost to Utah yesterday? I think we all know that answer. Does it simply make everything better because we won?

He refuses to eat humble pie (Arizona, Utah, Louisville in basketball, etc. etc. etc. etc.), and trust me the same will happen after this weekend. And you know the moment that BYU loses any game in the future, he'll return like a George Foreman comeback with desires to feed on our souls and garner more negative attention than a Paris Hilton made for TV video.

When are we going to clean up this board and say enough is enough? This is not a random smack talker coming to our board, this guy seems to feed off his vain attempt to cause us pain and despair. He's wasted enough bandwidth and has never changed his behavior patterns. He always returns to where he started; an angry, hateful, crazy man that has gotten his chance and blown it. Kick him off for the benefit of the rest of us. It has gone too far.....

I think a show of hands would be in the 95% in favor, unfortunately we have some tree huggers that simply can't see the forest for the trees and are willing to give someone 1,000 chances without seeing the real damage he does...I'm not one of them. I am a very busy person and this is one of the few indulgences I have. I would pay $200 a month for board priviledges here if it meant guys like Airwolf couldn't ruin one of the few things I really enjoy in life. The amount of time I've spent here the last 3 months, it would end up equalling less than 25 cents an hour. Obviously money isn't the answer here, but having him here is like owning a large flat screen HDTV with a baseball sized hole in the middle...I'm frankly tired of overlooking it.....

---

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by Zhenkar - 2007/11/25 09:08

---

AMEN! He follows the same routine. In regards to football, he was wrong last year about Utah, then about Oregon, then was wrong this year about TCU, Utah again, and he'll say the same thing once we know who our bowl opponent is. I'm sure there's even more things in there that I'm not aware of because I'm new to this board. He's an idiot though. He'll probably disappear for a few weeks, then show up again and act like he was never wrong. Like Domanater said, he never eats his humble pie, but he expects us to if he ever gets anything right. What an idiot!

---

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by Hengst - 2007/11/25 09:10

---

domanater wrote:

I know a lot of people have been thinking this and a few saying it, but it's about time to show Airwolf the road.

For many of us BYU sports border on "sacred" and all Airwolf does is come here and spout insanity, hate, and anti-byu venom. Throw in his random non-sports posts, which are fairly anti-American, anti-church leadership and as nutty as a snickers bar, and you can see why he's a complete waste of bandwidth.

He's almost never right, and never manages to learn from his mistakes. I for one am sick of the guy being the black cloud that exists on this site for the soul purpose of boosting his little cathartic ego and running down our program, athletes, honor code, etc. His arguments are baseless and circular. He abuses the term "stats" with numbers that are illogical at best and confabulated at worst.

---

He has over 500 negative "karma" and it would be 2000 if half of us thought it would make a difference. (personally, I think he's the soul reason that CougarPeasant doesn't have +100 karma right now-which he rightfully deserves, regardless of how ridiculous karma is)

I know this board is not a democracy and I trust there will be those "devil's advocate" souls that will continue to get his back a couple days after everything settles down when we manage to win, but his piss and vinegar act this week is the last straw for me. Ask yourself, how would he be acting had we lost to Arizona, got blown out by Louisville or North Carolina, or lost to Utah yesterday? I think we all know that answer. Does it simply make everything better because we won?

He refuses to eat humble pie (Arizona, Utah, Louisville in basketball, etc. etc. etc. etc.), and trust me the same will happen after this weekend. And you know the moment that BYU loses any game in the future, he'll return like a George Foreman comeback with desires to feed on our souls and garner more negative attention than a Paris Hilton made for TV video.

When are we going to clean up this board and say enough is enough? This is not a random smack talker coming to our board, this guy seems to feed off his vain attempt to cause us pain and despair. He's wasted enough bandwidth and has never changed his behavior patterns. He always returns to where he started; an angry, hateful, crazy man that has gotten his chance and blown it. Kick him off for the benefit of the rest of us. It has gone too far.....

I think a show of hands would be in the 95% in favor, unfortunately we have some tree huggers that simply can't see the forest for the trees and are willing to give someone 1,000 chances without seeing the real damage he does...I'm not one of them. I am a very busy person and this is one of the few indulgences I have. I would pay $200 a month for board priviledges here if it meant guys like Airwolf couldn't ruin one of the few things I really enjoy in life. The amount of time I've spent here the last 3 months, it would end up equalling less than 25 cents an hour. Obviously money isn't the answer here, but having him here is like owning a large flat screen HDTV with a baseball sized hole in the middle...I'm frankly tired of overlooking it.....

Let him have his opinion, who cares. He can say whatever he wants, that doesn't mean you have to listen to him. Has he even been on the board at all in the last week?

If you have time to get yourself worked up by airwolf, you need to find a new hobby.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by BigL - 2007/11/25 09:16

---

Remember, there must be opposition in all things. Besides, it just gives me someone to laugh at when he's wrong. Silly Airwolf, trix are for kids!:laugh:

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by craigocarson - 2007/11/25 09:23

---

There's a difference between an opinion and hate-speech. If you're an active contributor to this site, don't you have to ask what his contribution is?

If I do this, all I can think of is hate, venom, and drama.

He's not giving us opinions, he's baiting us for attention and drama.

On a regular basis he attempts to use "fact" (not opinion mind you) to prove the most illogical of arguments.

What if BYU had lost to any of his famous guarantees? Utah or Oregon last year? Arizona, TCU, Utah, Louisville this year? Has he ever returned and given the fans, the team or the coaches their due props? What would he have done had we lost any of those games?

And your argument Hengst is almost as pathetic as Airwolf himself.

"Find a new hobby", are you kidding me? If you played golf twice a week and some guy was pissing on the 18th green everyday, would you simply switch courses or grab a driver and put a large knot on the guys head? Apathy is not the answer, we've put up with Airwolf long enough. How many potential fans and active contributors has he turned off with his anti-mormon babble. How many times has he swooped in like a vulture to try to kick us while we're down and how many more times would he have done so if we had lost? What would he be doing right now if we didn't convert 4th down yesterday? What if Louisville had dropped 100 on us?

---

We have every right to feel that Cougarblue is important enough of a hobby and fan group to ask that a guy that defiles it in every sense be asked to leave. I for one am asking him to leave right now and for good.

Airwolf, please leave and never come back. You don't belong here. We're BYU fans in a BYU fan chat group. You hate us and you hate BYU, and you can't conceive of eating your humble pie when you're wrong. Go somewhere where people want you there.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by hypercoug - 2007/11/25 09:35

---

On message boards, unfed trolls leave. All you are accomplishing with this thread is feeding him. Who cares what the guy says anyway? Sheesh. You guys need something new to worry about.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by craigoscarson - 2007/11/25 09:39

---

You're right for the most part unfed trolls leave. Airwolf is not a troll, he's a truly insane parasite that would wants others to be as miserable as he is. You'd have to have been around a little more than a few weeks to know this. He's not going anywhere unless those capable of banning that account have a say. Feed him or not he's coming back for more, it's just a matter of time.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2007/11/25 09:45

---

I'm in favor of ousting him! You got my vote.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by hypercoug - 2007/11/25 09:49

---

craigoscarson wrote:

You're right for the most part unfed trolls leave. Airwolf is not a troll, he's a truly insane parasite that would wants others to be as miserable as he is. You'd have to have been around a little more than a few weeks to know this. He's not going anywhere unless those capable of banning that account have a say. Feed him or not he's coming back for more, it's just a matter of time.

I have read virtually every thread in this board for the past year or so. I know who you're talking about, believe me. Just continue feeding him like this so he will be sure he has motivation to come back. Threads like this dedicated to complaining about him are a special treat to him! Even better than a free hot dog!

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by HoosierCougar - 2007/11/25 11:05

---

I have been reading this board for over 3 years and posting sporadically for about 18 months. Airwolf has been here the whole time... I have seen his posts ignored and I have seen his posts incite riots (and some really long threads).

---

I admit I have succumbed to the temptation and answered a few of his posts. Maybe I can't help myself. However, I think I need to treat him like I treat telemarketers... I just don't answer the phone when I don't want to talk.

I recently brought a presenter to my department at work who spoke on team building... guy is a FB HC for Boys Town HS in Omaha, NE. All kinds of delinquents and kids nobody else wants, ususally gets them for 2 years +/- . On this subject, he said gossips/whiners need someone to listen to them. If no one stands at the water cooler and gives an ear, the whining and gossip stops.

Not saying AirWolf will stop, but if we don't respond, he won't have the satisfaction of getting our dander ruffled (which satisfaction may be better than a free hot dog for him.)

If that doesn't work, try stuff like this conversation I had recently with a telemarketer (which got her to hang up on me):

Telemarketer: Hello, Mr HoosierCougar, I am calling from...

Me: I am sorry, we don't accept phone sollicitaions.

TM: That's OK, I am not selling anything.

ME: Did you know that "solicit" does not mean "to sell"?

TM: Excuse me?

ME: That's right, "solicit" does not mean "to sell". For example, you can be arrested for soliticing prostitution when, in fact, she's the one selling!

TM: Well, how about I just help you with a very big problem?

ME: Gee, sounds more and more like prostitution all the time!

TM: **click**

---

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by KYCoug - 2007/11/25 11:21

---

I don't remember when I last opened and read a topic that he started and I skip over his comments. One of my rules in life is Never argue with an Idiot which is why I avoid other boards that are full of smack talking idiots. If you don't like what he has to say just don't open one of his treads, if every thread he starts sits there with 0 comments and 0 hits then he becomes irrelevant.

I like that much more than trying to decide who can and can't post on the site. Use your agency and ignore him!

---

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by YBNORMAL - 2007/11/25 11:43

---

KYCoug wrote:

I don't remember when I last opened and read a topic that he started and I skip over his comments. One of my rules in life is Never argue with an Idiot which is why I avoid other boards that are full of smack talking idiots. If you don't like what he has to say just don't open one of his treads, if every thread he starts sits there with 0 comments and 0 hits then he becomes irrelevant.

I like that much more than trying to decide who can and can't post on the site. Use your agency and ignore him!

I totally agree with the "ignore him" mentality, as that is what I try to do, problem is, it will NOT work. You have to pay attention to this board for a long period of time to truly understand his tactics. Because many just frequent the board now and then (and new people come in all the time), they will see one of his posts, it will incite them, and we are once again feeding the troll. Most don't know that he has nothing positive to offer. I've said it before but to those who know his tactics..... "When you wrestle with pigs, you both get dirty, but the pig enjoys it." It's a bummer that he can't have a meaningful conversation, but he can't..... Hey Airwolf, I like ya man, it's your tactics that make no sense.

Go Cougars.... I've been taking some crap from some Utah fans today complaining about officiating and such..... It's awesome, I listen to their drivel, wait for them to stop spewing nonsense and then just say, "4th and 18", it's worked 3 times..... :laugh:

---

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by BigTex - 2007/11/25 12:12

---

who's Airwolf

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by YBNORMAL - 2007/11/25 12:21

---

BigTex wrote:
who's Airwolf

Thanx Big Tex, you are helping make my point in my post above. You're better off NOT knowing who Airwolf is.... GO COUGARS, we had a great chance to beat UNC last night..... bummer, but our boys were fun to watch, we might be good :ohmy:

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by detmer4prez - 2007/11/25 12:47

---

Happily ignoring the poster that will not be named since August. Let me tell you it feels great.

http://www.cougarblue.com/component/option,com\_fireboard/Itemid,26/func,view/id,116411/catid,2/limit,8/limitstart,0

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by gordito - 2007/11/25 13:19

---

Who cares whether he stops posting or not.

Ignore him if you wish or respond to him if you wish. I find it pathetic that people want to silence him. Somebody mentioned that they are angry that he will never eat his 'humble pie'. What gives you the right to 'humble' him? YOU SOUND LIKE KYLE WITTINGHAM!

I don't care whether or not he backs up his negative predictions. This isn't a dictatorship here where dissenting or wrong or stupid opinions are silenced. Move on with your life if you feel it necessary to write a tome about Airwolf.

=====

Re:Airwolf\'s gotta go now

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2007/11/25 13:20 detmer4prez, thanks for pulling up the promise thread. Does that make us Promise Seekers? B) I bumped the promise thread to the top for others to renew their promise or join the rest of us.

---

detmer4prez wrote:

Happily ignoring the poster that will not be named since August. Let me tell you it feels great.

domanater, I understand why you would want to ban someone like airwolf, but he will just reappear under another handle and start all over. Tis better just to avoid certain posters that have shown to be BYU or Mendenhall haters (we all know who that is), rather than feed their need for attention or to tear another down.

As for your comment about my karma, it's not airwolf, but thanks for bringing it up:

He has over 500 negative "karma" and it would be 2000 if half of us thought it would make a difference.

---

(personally, I think he's the soul reason that CougarPeasant doesn't have +100 karma right now-which he rightfully deserves, regardless of how ridiculous karma is)

I have a very good idea who it is, in fact I am positive I know who it is and thought if I just ignored him he'd stop with his childish vendetta. But no, he even dinged me on Thanksgiving Day when I was away, so it's obvious he won't change on his own. I've even been openly support of him and gave him positive karma publicly, only to see him ding mine in the same hour. Pathetic.

To my karma bandit, be a man and come to me personally with your beef and quit hiding behind the mask of an anonymous handle with your harassment. The karma is incidental, your constant assault on my karma is harassment pure and simple. Given this is a BYU fan site, which tries to hold to the Christian ideals of forgiveness and the Golden Rule, it's time to live up to those principles in all your dealings with your fellow man.

=====

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by SanAntonioBlue - 2007/11/25 13:37

---

fyi... This is the stupidest thread ever. Really. EVER.

=====

Re:Airwolf's gotta go now

Posted by buzzard - 2007/11/25 15:31

---

Um, guys, this thread makes us sound like the hurt puppies over on Utefan. Part of the sport of the board is rubbing Wolfies nose in it when he is wrong. And he is wrong soooo often.

=====