
signs at the game

Posted by swingcat - 2007/11/26 12:04

I just wanted to start a thread for people to put down some of the signs that they saw at the BYU vs. YOOTAH game. I was there, but was so preoccupied with the game that I didn't get a look at any of the signs.

I saw a pretty creative one that said "Unga was my first word."

New sign for future Utah games "Collie is still open."

All the guys at my place watching the game liked:

"Kehl him!"

I saw the "Unga was my first word" sign too, and I loved it.

4:18!

Heck, let's just erect a sign that says "_____ is still open!" and hang it on a billboard on I-15. That way, each year we can just use a dry erase marker to fill in the blank! ;) :cheer:

Here's a suggestion for next year...

Instead of "John 3:16", it could be "Austin 4:18". Is that blasphemous? ;) B)

I saw one that said Here is Y (with the Y logo.) U (the U Logo) won't win.
Thought that was kind of cool.

Love it! Maybe if we were more blasphemous, yewts would stop calling us goody-two shoes/holy-than-thou? Hmm, doubt it, because then they would have little else to criticize. :)

After the game, I saw a sign someone made that said. "That Just Happened". I loved that one.

Nice. Mind if you use this at next week's game?

Some idiot Ute fan brought in a sign that said

"Welcome to Rice-Eccles South!"

He looked so proud of himself, but after the game, it's strange, I didn't see him carry it out...:laugh: :laugh: :laugh:

I also saw the "that just happened" dry-erase sign, but my favorite was "sportscenter is not next."

My favorite was one that with a drawing of the U on their hillside and said, "Brokeback Mountain." There was also one that said "I Hate Tate," which was a nice rhyme, but Tate could have probably taken all four of the kids holding signs at once.

Big fan of the "Wickedness Never Was Happiness" sign that I saw being carried onto the field after the game.

Here's another idea...

Harline open

+ Collie open
= NO DEFENSE!

Or...

Just use one of those business window signs that says "Yes, We're Open!" or write "BYU Football: Open 24 Hours" or, "Can't Find Who You're Looking For? We Can!"

How about every time Collie makes a catch next year hold up a sign that say

Another Catch!
Still counting our BLESSINGS!!!

What I liked best about this sign was when the kid holding it got his picture taken with Poppinga! Then it was the right caption :laugh:

Another one I had to chuckle at was: You can't spell "sucks" without the "U" (U Logo)
