
Week in Vegas

Posted by BigRedFrog - 2007/12/05 08:51

Hi. I'm a disappointed TCU fan who jumped the gun and reserved a no-refund week at a Vegas condo in anticipation of going to the bowl (sigh!).

So...here's the deal. This is a one-bedroom villa (sleeps 4) with full kitchen at the Hilton Grand Vacations Club on the Las Vegas Strip. The address is 2650 LV Blvd South (there's two or three different HGV resorts in Vegas). It's between the Sahara and the Riviera, just north of CircusCircus (if any of those places are still there -- it's been a year since we were in Vegas and things change very rapidly nowadays!) The week begins Sunday, Dec. 16 and runs through the night of the bowl game -- you check out Sunday morning, Dec. 23. We're asking $500 for the week, which is slightly less than we paid for it. If you want to check it out, here's the web address (I don't know how to post a hot link -- sorry).

If you're interested, please PM me at bigredfrog@killerfrogs.com. I am a long-time poster there and Wes will vouch for me.

We've stayed there twice and it was a good experience both times, although there's no casino or restaurant on site (those aren't the reasons we go to Vegas so it doesn't matter to us).

Thanks and good luck in the game! You are a class act and always represent the conference well (except occasionally in early season games against BCS schools, but...)!

Not cool, man.

Bigredfrog-I wish you luck in finding someone. I'd think about it, but I've got finals all that week-and I'm completely broke.

Pull your head out and find a sense of humor, Etyotx. Lame.

I'm sure if you were potentially out $500 and some idiot like yourself made fun of you, you'd be pretty ticked off.

It's hard to help a guy out with RED in his name...;) Maybe if you see the light and leave the "dark side" you'll become a Cougar Fan and enjoy your self in LES South. :cheer:

All kidding aside, I'll PM you and maybe we can work something out.

You have a point about the early games. no excuses. we didn't show-up and represent. Our Bad.

Vegas gives us a redeeming opportunity, You should come.

The guy essentially gambled $500 that his team would beat us out and take the conference championship. Never bet against a champ.

He then comes to a BYU fan site and tries to recoup his money and in the process makes a dig at BYU's performance against BCS schools.

Etytox then demonstrates what an uptight 'tard he is by taking offense at someone giving the guy a good natured ribbing.

AGAIN, Etytox. Pull your head out.

Uptight 'tard? What are we? 15? Save the childish insults San An. We're all on the same team here.

You have no idea how much I wish I could take that offer Bigred. I'm sure someone will take it though. Good luck to you and your Frogs.

You can always give eBay a chance. Heck, there's even a for-sale board on this site (not used much). I'm sure there are BYU fans who would love to go down to Vegas this year. Good luck!
