
Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Island Pipeline - 2007/12/31 16:57

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by IdahoCougar - 2007/12/31 17:06

I wish Hawaii well. Please represent the non-bcs well again this year with another victory. My prediction though is a loss: Georgia 27 Hawaii 14.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Mingjai - 2007/12/31 17:11

My gut feeling is that Coach Richt is going to have the UGA motivated to play by telling his boys that they don't want to be remembered for a long time as this year's OU.

Georgia 42, Hawaii 24

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by jjmterrain - 2007/12/31 17:17

it would be nice to see hawaii win but they are going to get there asses handed to them just my opinion no biases here but i will be rooting the warriors as much as it pains me to do so

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by yutka - 2007/12/31 17:22

Hawaii is like Wyoming to me... A real Deep Rivalry. They HATE us, They hate us with burning bloody passion, and give us a tough hard game every time we play. Unlike the Yewt rivalry though, I can cheer for Hawaii when we are not playing them... Wyoming takes their yearly drubbing with "class" year after year. I respect their coach, and think they have some good players... Hawaii was like that... they respected BYU's place in the football universe and knew it meant something to Beat BYU...

So as such... I can't not root for Hawaii... I want them to blow out the other team (especially since the rest of the WAC looked to terrible)... and show once again that the BCS is more BS than BSU...

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by SeattleCougar - 2007/12/31 17:35

I hate to say it, but Hawaii is going to get it handed to them against Georgia. People tend to forget that Georgia was the hottest D1-A team in the country to end the season. They may be young, but they are definitely a lot more physical and talented than Hawaii. I'd call it Georgia 35 Hawaii 21

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by timmyboy - 2007/12/31 18:56

Good luck to Hawaii. I wish you the best. However...

I think this is going to be an ugly game. 2007 Hawaii is nowhere near as good as 2006 Boise State and 2007 Georgia is a lot better than 2006 Oklahoma. And that game was close. This game will not be.

Prediction: 38-14.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by dmudave - 2007/12/31 19:01

Hawaii ready to Crumble!!

They lose by 2 or more touchdowns.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigscarson - 2007/12/31 19:48

GA 52 Hawaii 21

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CAFB_04-12 - 2008/01/01 02:16

I don't know much about Georgia's defense, but I just don't see Hawaii not scoring at least 21. I still think they lose by two. Maybe something like Cal vs. AFA. 48 -36. Just a guess really. I guess being on the BCS outside looking in a part of me wants Hawaii to stick it to Georgia, but another part of me has never really forgiven them for taking us to town in 2001.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by redhdqtnlv - 2008/01/01 03:53

Not sure if Hawaii is deserving of my loyalty since most Hawaii fans I have run into rank somewhere between pond scum and scum bags. I didn't say all, but most "I have met" So please no stories about how many great Hawaii fans there are out there. There may be, but I have yet to meet them.

After watching Nevada get raked over the coals by New Mexico, and Boise state lose to East Carolina, I have serious doubts about Hawaii even being in the game at all. Not trying to be negative, but rather realistic.

Also, I feel like teams the likes of Hawaii and Boise state have set the BSC bar "lower" than it ever was. Which makes BYU look to copy that formula to get in. Almost the same scenerio as what took place in 1984.

No love here for Hawaii, no hate, but no love either.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by kitic77 - 2008/01/01 09:40

I stand by my earlier prediction that my boy Knowshon Moreno (who went to my high school) will rush for 200 yards against Hawaii.

UH 35
GA 52

Brennan is a good college QB who is in a very good system that plays extremely well to his strengths. He'll play well, but not well enough. No way the Rainbow Warriors can hang with Georgia for four quarters.

I have zero love for Hawaii, I still have nightmares of visits to the islands in 90 and 91 and 01.

Go UGA!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by timmyboy - 2008/01/01 09:53

CAFB_04-12 wrote:

I don't know much about Georgia's defense, but I just don't see Hawaii not scoring at least 21. I still think they lose by two. Maybe something like Cal vs. AFA. 48 -36. Just a guess really. I guess being on the BCS outside looking in a part of me wants Hawaii to stick it to Georgia, but another part of me has never really forgiven them for taking us to town in 2001.

Problem for Hawaii is that Georgia has a pretty decent run offense and Hawaii has a swiss cheese defense. Georgia will likely play some serious smashmouth football and control the clock. Georgia will score and will run time off the clock. The Hawaii defense will be on the field so long that they will tire quickly and Georgia will run over them.

On the other hand, Hawaii's offense will get a couple of big time scores. However, they will go 3 and out more times. I just don't see Hawaii scoring all that much in this game. Their speed at receiver will be nearly neutralized by Georgia speed in the secondary. And that's the only advantage that Hawaii has: speed. Other than that, they got nothing.

In a lot of ways, I think of Hawaii as a poor man's Florida. And look what Georgia did to Florida.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by NikeFootball - 2008/01/01 10:18

This one is tough. One one hand, it would be good for the non-BSC schools for Hawaii to win. On the other hand, I really don't like Hawaii and I think some of their fans are very, very classless. Also, I don't think a Hawaii win really helps the Playoff scenario, which is the goal.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Metal Bubba - 2008/01/01 10:18

I'm cheering against Hawai'i. I would like nothing more than to see them get trounced so that teams don't continue this trend of scheduling really weak opponents. You should be punished for the OOC schedule that the WAC teams are lining up.

UGA 48
UH 20

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Y-Town - 2008/01/01 10:46

CAFB_04-12 wrote:

I don't know much about Georgia's defense, but I just don't see Hawaii not scoring at least 21. I still think they lose by two. Maybe something like Cal vs. AFA. 48 -36. Just a guess really. I guess being on the BCS outside looking in a part of me wants Hawaii to stick it to Georgia, but another part of me has never really forgiven them for taking us to town in 2001.

It is funny you say that, because I too thought the same way; however, you will be pleased to know that the defensive player from that year's Hawaii team that took Doman out of the game is now a converted Cougar. He is in my MBA classes here at BYU.:woohoo:

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by tevita - 2008/01/01 11:24

YA BOY! i completely agree with ya. UGA is has a extremely fast defense. the only way that they will lose this game is if they come out too cocky....I expect Moreno to have a great game. GET READY FOR THE BLACKOUT!!!!!!

kitic77 wrote:

I stand by my earlier prediction that my boy Knowshon Moreno (who went to my high school) will rush for 200 yards against Hawaii.

UH 35
GA 52

Brennan is a good college QB who is in a very good system that plays extremely well to his strengths. He'll play well, but not well enough. No way the Rainbow Warriors can hang with Georgia for four quarters.

I have zero love for Hawaii, I still have nightmares of visits to the islands in 90 and 91 and 01.

Go UGA!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 11:50

I think being rewarded for weak scheduling sucks. I want weak scheduling teams to be exposed. Therefore, I want to see Georgia wax Hawaii so that Mendenhall will stop this stupid plan of scheduling down because he thinks that's the only way to get into a BCS bowl game.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Npliam - 2008/01/01 12:03

Metal Bubba wrote:

I'm cheering against Hawai'i. I would like nothing more than to see them get trounced so that teams don't continue this trend of scheduling really weak opponents. You should be punished for the OOC schedule that the WAC teams are lining up.

UGA 48
UH 20

The problem is that even if they lose they still get the BC$ money. How is this punishment?

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by gregoden - 2008/01/01 13:11

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

I hope Hawaii loses so you shut your yapper. BTW, since when did Hawaiians speak Ebonics? I've known plenty of Hawaiians, Samoans and Tongans, none of which spoke an Island dialect of "Hood." Maybe a few of your receivers could elaborate about life in the hood versus life on the island. UGA 65 UH 32.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 13:28

The only thing that would help BYU if Hawaii loses, is ranking. We would probably leap frog hawaii. But, if Hawaii wins, I think it helps our chances for the BCS for next year! Either way, Go Cougars!

PS: I will be rooting or Hawaii.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by sjcougfan - 2008/01/01 13:59

I don't think the weak schedule Hawaii has played has prepared them for the kind of team they'll face today, Georgia is an excellent team, they are going to get worked! That being said. and despite the multitude of annoying posts by pipeline, I will always root for non BC$ teams vs BC$.

38-17 Georgia

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 15:07

sjcougfan wrote:

I don't think the weak schedule Hawaii has played has prepared them for the kind of team they'll face today, Georgia is an excellent team, they are going to get worked! That being said. and despite the multitude of annoying posts by pipeline, I will always root for non BC$ teams vs BC$.

38-17 Georgia

I couldn't agree with you more.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hengst - 2008/01/01 15:38

GO HAWAII!!!!!!! If Hawaii gets slaughtered it will close the door for other non-bcs teams. They'd better win, or make it a close game.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by loopycoug - 2008/01/01 16:54

Hengst wrote:

GO HAWAII!!!!!!! If Hawaii gets slaughtered it will close the door for other non-bcs teams. They'd better win, or make it a close game.

Agreed. I am not a Hawaii fan, but I have to cheer for the non-BCS underdog. Makes it easier for BYU next year if the non-BCS teams are 3-0 in BCS games.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Cougarageous - 2008/01/01 16:55

Oh I misread the subject title and though it said "Hawaii Ready To Tumble", as in out of the polls after they are crushed.

Congrats to Hawaii for dumbing up their schedule so that they had a chance to go undefeated and make it into a BCS bowl. The plan worked perfectly...only problem is that usually you have really good teams in the BCS and therefore Hawaii is going to get it handed to them.

After Hawaii gets killed it is going to make people realize that some more emphasis needs to be placed on strength of schedule when choosing for the BCS. This includes Ohio State that doesn't deserve to be playing for the championship after their weak schedule. Anyway, good luck Hawaii...because at this point it will take all of it in the world for you to even keep the game close.

Go Cougs!

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ola - 2008/01/01 18:49

Hawaii loses by 40pts. I still can't get over our loss to Hawaii in 2001. They thought they were so great beating us with Doman and Staley injured. Their team smelled a lot like the Ewts with how unsportsman like they were even though they were winning.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Yndian - 2008/01/01 18:56

Whoa. Apparently the announcers aren't ready to rumble. Is everyone else just getting natural sound with no commentators or ref mics?

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by NorthernCougar - 2008/01/01 18:57

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

Are you going to come back and take your lumps when your team gets destroyed? I won't hold my breath but I will be impressed if you do. Hawaii loses by 35. They aren't nearly as good as you think they are. Actually, they aren't good at all.

I hope Hawaii wins but I am not holding my breath...

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by NikeFootball - 2008/01/01 19:01

Did anyone see that cheap penalty? That dirty Hawaii guy drilled the Punt returner from Georgia, head to head! He should have been ejected! Way to represent with class Hawaii. Georgia by 28.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 19:05

NikeFootball wrote:

Did anyone see that cheap penalty? That dirty Hawaii guy drilled the Punt returner from Georgia, head to head! He should have been ejected! Way to represent with class Hawaii. Georgia by 28.

It was typical Hawaii play. It was a horrible cheap shot as the returner was groggy afterwards.

Georgia runs its down Hawaii's throat to score the first TD and take the early lead.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by BludRunsBlue - 2008/01/01 19:11

does anyone know somewhere you can watchi this online, I am moving tomorrow morning and my tv is packed away....but I had to keep the computer!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by BludRunsBlue - 2008/01/01 19:24

does anyone know somewhere you can watchi this online, I am moving tomorrow morning and my tv is packed away....but I had to keep the computer!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by NikeFootball - 2008/01/01 19:25

FG for Hawaii. 7-3 Georgia.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 19:28

Hawaii looks a little too excited, this might work against them.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by detmer4prez - 2008/01/01 19:34

Hawaii looks like the J.V. team that has played against Frosh. teams all year and now they are playing the state champs. They are getting physically dominated. Anyone (with a brain) surprised?

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 19:57

Great defense Georgia! They just intercepted Brennan.

Score again and this game just might be over before half time.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by dmudave - 2008/01/01 19:58

This is pretty funny.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 19:59

Ha Brenan just threw an INT. This game is over in my opinion. What stinks is this will lessen the chances for non BCS schools to make it into the big bowls.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:01

Hey, before the game they mentioned that Colt Brenan committed a crime before he came to Hawaii. Does anyone know what he did?

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 20:04

Georgia has blown this wide open. They just scored another TD.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 20:05

Hipsdamann wrote:

Hey, before the game they mentioned that Colt Brenan committed a crime before he came to Hawaii. Does anyone know what he did?

Sexual assault and breaking and entering. It's why he left Colorado and only Hawaii would give him a chance.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:05

GAME OVER!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 20:06

Wow, island pipeline, this is embarassing! 24-3, and it is still the first half?! Hawaii's offense better turn it on right now, or this game will be over soon.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:06

This just goes to show that Hawaii isn't used to playing decent teams. Their schedule was so weak this season and in turn they are playing very weakly.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by YBNORMAL - 2008/01/01 20:08

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

Oops.....:ohmy:

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 20:10

Hawaii's receiver Rivers took a big hit and was knocked unconscious. Tough break for Hawaii, but then he did get flagged for a late hit, personal foul earlier. Pay back?!!

No, it was a clean play on Georgia's part.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:10

YBNORMAL wrote:

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

Oops.....:ohmy:

:laugh: :laugh: :laugh: :laugh: Hilarious

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 20:15

Georgia sacks Brennan, forcing a fumble they recover!

Hawaii, you did not belong in a BCS bowl game.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:16

another turnover! You have to be kidding me. Hawaii doesn't belong in this game, not at all.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Mingjai - 2008/01/01 20:17

Glory, glory to old Georgia!
Glory, glory to old Georgia!
Glory, glory to old Georgia!
G-E-O-R-G-I-A.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ammoncougar1 - 2008/01/01 20:18

Maybe Pipeline will leave us alone and crawl back into his Rainbow hole and talk with his own friends.

Honestly I was hoping they would show better than this. Oh, well, I guess not all "non-BcS" teams can win!

Go Cougs!!!

Hopefully we WON'T hear from the Pipe guy next season.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:20

ammoncougar1 wrote:

Maybe Pipeline will leave us alone and crawl back into his Rainbow hole and talk with his own friends.

Honestly I was hoping they would show better than this. Oh, well, I guess not all "non-BcS" teams can win!

Go Cougs!!!

Hopefully we WON'T hear from the Pipe guy next season.

amen

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:21

If Hawaii is going to have any chance, They have to have a huge play right here and right now.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by hypercoug - 2008/01/01 20:26

I am watching the game with Island Pipeline. He says that because he is a bit too drunk to post, I should post for him. Here is what he says:

Hey my BYU Bradas! Don't lose the faith my bradas! Us rainbows was down 21 to UW also, and we pulled it out! You'll see it in the second half my bradas!

I'll be talking to you after the game my BRADAS!!!

PS - Did you see my BRADA nail the punt returner at the beginning of the game?! A little hawaiian love smackin' down on Georgia! Just wait till after the game when the bottles begin flying, my Bradas!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/01/01 20:32

hypercoug wrote:

I am watching the game with Island Pipeline. He says that because he is a bit too drunk to post, I should post for him. Here is what he says:

Hey my BYU Bradas! Don't lose the faith my bradas! Us rainbows was down 21 to UW also, and we pulled it out! You'll see it in the second half my bradas!

I'll be talking to you after the game my BRADAS!!!

PS - Did you see my BRADA nail the punt returner at the beginning of the game?! A little hawaiian love smackin' down on Georgia! Just wait till after the game when the bottles begin flying, my Bradas!

You should tell him to stop drinking and start praying that Hawaii even looks half way decent against Georgia

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by HoosierCougar - 2008/01/01 20:34

Hawaii is really outclassed here... it is too bad.

I have long advocated that a team's OOC schedule should be weighted heavily in their Strength of Schedule. So if you want to schedule Kent State, Akron and the Blind Girls' School of St Mary's, then you take a hit in your rankings.

Too bad I have no votes in how the Bc$ rankings are calculated.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Mingjai - 2008/01/01 20:42

hypercoug wrote:

I am watching the game with Island Pipeline. He says that because he is a bit too drunk to post, I should post for him.

Here is what he says:

Hey my BYU Bradas! Don't lose the faith my bradas! Us rainbows was down 21 to UW also, and we pulled it out! You'll see it in the second half my bradas!

I'll be talking to you after the game my BRADAS!!!

PS - Did you see my BRADA nail the punt returner at the beginning of the game?! A little hawaiian love smackin' down on Georgia! Just wait till after the game when the bottles begin flying, my Bradas!

I think the whole Hawaii team is already pau hana.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by a1247 - 2008/01/01 20:57

HoosierCougar wrote:

Hawaii is really outclassed here... it is too bad.

I have long advocated that a team's OOC schedule should be weighted heavily in their Strength of Schedule. So if you want to schedule Kent State, Akron and the Blind Girls' School of St Mary's, then you take a hit in your rankings.

Too bad I have no votes in how the Bc$ rankings are calculated.

I'm sure with the way Hawaii is playing the BCS boys are going to reevaluate there position on OOC games and strength of schedule.

Way to go Hawaii you have set the non BCS schools back 10 years with this pathetic performance so far tonight. :P

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by bennyhaha - 2008/01/01 21:01

The difference between Hawaii, and BSU last year, and BYU the next two years (I hope anyway), is that both BSU and BYU have played elite competition over the past years. BSU went down to georgia and got spanked, BYU has played USC, UCLA, ND, etc. over the past years. Hawaii has never played against such talent like UGA, and they do not know how to handle it. This game is over.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 21:07

Pack it in Hawaii, you are not coming back.

Brennan threw another INT, which wasn't even close to his own receiver.

Sack, short gain, interception. Nice start to the 2d half.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by jjmterrain - 2008/01/01 21:10

this just goes to show what everyone has said all along.... hawaii did not deserve this bcs berth.... they played a soft schedule that played out in their favor.... i bet the bcs doesnt make this mistake again. funny that byu will end up ranked higher than hawaii to end the year.... so yes byu is still better than you....

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by bennyhaha - 2008/01/01 21:15

I really think that BYU would have killed Hawaii this year. I know I have some seriously blue goggles. But our defense would dominate these guys. And this Defense of Hawaii's (if it even qualifies as such), would be getting killed as well. Pack it in Hawaii.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 21:16

Well Hawaii just got an interception, so lets see if they have some juice in their tank?!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ammoncougar1 - 2008/01/01 21:17

jjmterrain wrote:

this just goes to show what everyone has said all along.... hawaii did not deserve this bcs berth.... they played a soft schedule that played out in their favor.... i bet the bcs doesnt make this mistake again. funny that byu will end up ranked higher than hawaii to end the year.... so yes byu is still better than you....

Hilarious on the rankings comment! I hadn't thought of that! They will also be well ahead of BSU also and hopefully should leap frog a couple more teams to finish somewhere around 15-17 would be my guess.

Go Cougs!!!

BTW using some persons 'logic' if App state beat MI and MI beat FL then FL doesn't belong even close to BCS talks much less a top 15 ranking it had to end the season!:laugh: Do we jump FL in the final polls?

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 21:22

Georgia sacks Brennan again, forcing another fumble that Georgia recovers in the endzone for another TD.

31-3 Georgia.

Brennan was hurt on the last play as well.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 21:23

Brennen just fumbled and it was recovered for a touchdown. Wow, this is ugly. Not pug ugly, not fug ugly, just ugly ugly!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 21:39

Just when Hawaii was doing something right, they do something wrong.

Another INT for Georgia on a tipped pass at the line.

SWEEET

And Georgia makes them pay marching 50 yards for another TD.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 21:45

Now the crowd is cheering "Over-rated" This makes all the non-BCS conference teams look bad. This hurts BYU's chances next year to get a good look at a BCS game.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by MajorCougar - 2008/01/01 21:47

Let the beatdown continue.

Both teams did not belong in this bowl game: Hawaii is WAY overclassed (and we all knew they were), and Georgia got robbed from all the politicking to put LSU in the NC game when Georgia got leapfrogged by so many teams.

This whole BC$ system is a croc.

Georgia 38
Hawaii 3

U-G-L-Y.... UG-LY...

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by jjmterrain - 2008/01/01 21:50

iShowsToGo.com wrote:

Now the crowd is cheering "Over-rated" This makes all the non-BCS conference teams look bad. This hurts BYU's chances next year to get a good look at a BCS game.

however one big difference. our schedule will be a lot stronger and statistically we are a much better team than hawaii. if they played our schedule this year i think they are lucky to go 11-2..... byu is a school with a lot of rich tradition and many bowl games as wqell as being a team that a lot of colleges fear playing.... theyve earned there respect to get in we just need the wins....

=====

Hawaii Ready To Crumble

Posted by Metallicat - 2008/01/01 21:55

I love seeing Hawaii exposed for what they are. Will the media drop the WAC as their Media Darling after this bowl season?

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by LaytonCougar - 2008/01/01 21:56

HoosierCougar wrote:
Hawaii is really outclassed here... it is too bad.

I have long advocated that a team's OOC schedule should be weighted heavily in their Strength of Schedule. So if you want to schedule Kent State, Akron and the Blind Girls' School of St Mary's, then you take a hit in your rankings.

Too bad I have no votes in how the Bc$ rankings are calculated.

I think we need to give credit to Georgia. There is not a team in the WAC or Mountain West that could hang with Georgia tonight. They are playing as well as anyone right now. That is no disrespect to anyone just how good Georgia is playing right now.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by bennyhaha - 2008/01/01 21:57

You may be right about their defense, but I really dont think Georgia would put up 38 points on our defense. Granted some of those points came off of turnovers and short fields, but our defense is far and away much better than Hawaii's.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by sjcougfan - 2008/01/01 21:58

I have read several comments from people saying Hawaii's pathetic performance hurts BYU's chances to make a BC$ game, my question is why?

If BYU is ranked in the top 12 and meets whatever other qualifications that are in place, then they get in, plain and simple, if you want to argue that the loss will make it harder for BYU to move up in the rankings, I suppose that arguement might have some validity.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Metallicat - 2008/01/01 22:00

LaytonCougar wrote:
HoosierCougar wrote:
Hawaii is really outclassed here... it is too bad.

I have long advocated that a team's OOC schedule should be weighted heavily in their Strength of Schedule. So if you want to schedule Kent State, Akron and the Blind Girls' School of St Mary's, then you take a hit in your rankings.

Too bad I have no votes in how the Bc$ rankings are calculated.

I think we need to give credit to Georgia. There is not a team in the WAC or Mountain West that could hang with Georgia tonight. They are playing as well as anyone right now. That is no disrespect to anyone just how good Georgia is playing right now.

I feel bad for Georgia. They deserved a better opponent. Many have said that Hawaii (and Illinois for that matter) had no business in the BCS and we can see why.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Yndian - 2008/01/01 22:00

Wow. Why does Georgia feel they need to challenge a first down (not even a TD) when they're up 35 in, basically, the fourth quarter?

This is the problem with scheduling weak teams in order to get into a BCS game. Sure, you might beat them all and get in, but you'll get embarrassed once you're there. Do you think people will remember that Hawai'i went undefeated in the regular season or just that they got embarrassed in their bowl game?

Re:Hawaii Ready To Crumble

Posted by craigocarson - 2008/01/01 22:01

Colt Brennan just cost himself a couple million.

WAC scheduling just took a huge dump on the BCS.

I hope Bronco thinks twice about scheduling too many patsies in the future.

And Hawaii just laid the egg we all expected them to. I hope those people that were planning to bet the house, did. I might have bet the house but my wife would have left me for gambling so I'd have ended up even :P

Think we'll be hearing from the Hawaiiin poopline anytime soon? You simply cannot play the schedule Hawaii plays and then expect them to come to the mainland and compete with real football teams. Imagine what we would have done to Nevada next year.....

Re:Hawaii Ready To Crumble

Posted by Metallicat - 2008/01/01 22:01

Yndian wrote:

=This is the problem with scheduling weak teams in order to get into a BCS game. Sure, you might beat them all and get in, but you'll get embarrassed once you're there. Do you think people will remember that Hawai'i went undefeated in the regular season or just that they got embarrassed in their bowl game?

Absolutely they will remember.....that they played a crappy schedule and got exposed.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ky4799 - 2008/01/01 22:01

sjcougfam wrote:

I have read several comments from people saying Hawaii's pathetic performance hurts BYU's chances to make a BC$ game, my question is why?

If BYU is ranked in the top 12 and meets whatever other qualifications that are in place, then they get in, plain and simple, if you want to argue that the loss will make it harder for BYU to move up in the rankings, I suppose that arguement might have some validity.

I think it's really like saying South Florida and Connecticut's poor bowl performances hurt the chances of Virginia Tech winning the national championship next year.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigocarson - 2008/01/01 22:09

Yndian wrote:

Wow. Why does Georgia feel they need to challenge a first down (not even a TD) when they're up 35 in, basically, the fourth quarter?

This is the problem with scheduling weak teams in order to get into a BCS game. Sure, you might beat them all and get in, but you'll get embarrassed once you're there. Do you think people will remember that Hawai'i went undefeated in the regular season or just that they got embarrassed in their bowl game?

Mark Richt is the same guy that had his whole team rush the field on their 1st score vs Florida. Maybe the only one in the SEC with less class than Urban. I had to chuckle when Michigan beat Florida today.

Missouri deserved to play in the BCS
I think we'll find Kansas is a fraud too
We would have, had we beaten Tulsa
I honestly don't know if Arizona State was a BCS worthy team, but they had a solid resumee
Without their HC, I think Oklahoma will roll West Virginia by 20+

Honestly though think how nice a playoff would have been
Missouri vs USC would have been one hell of a 2nd rd game
(as some of you know Tony Temple grew up with me and my family, sleeping over, begging for spending cash, etc. etc.)

I don't expect Richt to call off the "dogs" it could get worse for Hawaii.
And while it's a bad message for the little guy, it's a good message for everyone scheduling patsies.....and the best Hawaii players will still leave the islands.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by LaytonCougar - 2008/01/01 22:10

bennyhaha wrote:

You may be right about their defense, but I really dont think Georgia would put up 38 points on our defense. Granted some of those points came off of turnovers and short fields, but our defense is far and away much better than Hawaii's.

You're right, but I wonder how we would do against the run. Our D-Line isn't the biggest and UCLA had their way with us.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by timmyboy - 2008/01/01 22:11

I don't think Hawaii's pathetic showing will hurt BYU at all next year. Everyone remembers Utah and Boise State. Those were great teams that played good schedules. They won most of their games handily. Hawaii, on the other hand, is a middle-of-the-road team that played a very weak schedules. And they didn't win handily.

Plus, BYU will start in the preseason Top 20 next year. If they win out, they will end up in the Top 10. I can guarantee that. Even BYU losing one game next year will still likely result in a BCS berth because of the high preseason ranking. Funny how much those preseason rankings affect the entire season.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ky4799 - 2008/01/01 22:20

timmyboy wrote:

I don't think Hawaii's pathetic showing will hurt BYU at all next year. Everyone remembers Utah and Boise State. Those were great teams that played good schedules. They won most of their games handily. Hawaii, on the other hand, is a middle-of-the-road team that played a very weak schedules. And they didn't win handily.

Plus, BYU will start in the preseason Top 20 next year. If they win out, they will end up in the Top 10. I can guarantee that. Even BYU losing one game next year will still likely result in a BCS berth because of the high preseason ranking.

Funny how much those preseason rankings affect the entire season.

I think 20 would be the best I would hope for. They seem to leave a lot of room for "non-bcs" teams to move up.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigscarson - 2008/01/01 22:21

This backup is making Brennan look like a "system" qb ;)

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:22

Tonight's loss by Hawaii sets back weak scheduling teams and the WAC. I know Hawaii tried to schedule better teams to play and were forced to play a second FBS team, but that is still no reason to reward them with a BCS bowl.

BYU, and most of the other MWC teams, schedules good OOC teams with 2 Pac 10 teams this and next season. Further, the MWC is head and shoulders above the WAC. I think Bronco's got to come away from tonight's game with the understanding he can't schedule down and get respect. He's got to schedule good teams and beat them. It's that simple.

I saw that USC has games against Ohio State, Virginia, and Notre Dame next season. Along with their PAC 10 schedule, I can't think of a more difficult schedule for any team next season.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by zero - 2008/01/01 22:22

that's like two completions in a row

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Yndian - 2008/01/01 22:27

craigscarson wrote:

Honestly though think how nice a playoff would have been
Missouri vs USC would have been one hell of a 2nd rd game
(as some of you know Tony Temple grew up with me and my family, sleeping over, begging for spending cash, etc. etc.)

I wanted someone to talk to Pete Carroll after their win today and say,
"You realize, of course, that in a playoff you could be playing for the national championship next, right? Is the tradition of the Rose Bowl really more important to you than that?"

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by iShowsToGo.com - 2008/01/01 22:29

Finally, it took Hawaii over 3 quarters to do it, but touchdown Hawaii! Congratulations on the touchdown.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigscarson - 2008/01/01 22:29

Yndian wrote:

craigscarson wrote:

Honestly though think how nice a playoff would have been

Missouri vs USC would have been one hell of a 2nd rd game

(as some of you know Tony Temple grew up with me and my family, sleeping over, begging for spending cash, etc. etc.)

I wanted someone to talk to Pete Carroll after their win today and say,

"You realize, of course, that in a playoff you could be playing for the national championship next, right? Is the tradition of the Rose Bowl really more important to you than that?"

USC might just be the best team right now in college. We'll never find out because of the lack of a playoff. Shame on the NCAA and the BCS. Missouri deserved better too.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by OLB - 2008/01/01 22:30

Some may have already mentioned this, but I think Hawaii's lack of a credible schedule (and I set aside the debate over whether Hawaii bares any responsibility in its pathetic schedule) should give Mendenhall, Holmoe, and everyone else out there that wants to schedule cup-cakes in order to game the system a reasons to pause and think about that strategy.

Maybe if BYU and the conference were dying for money, I'd be all for it. But BYU has the facilities and sufficient alumni support ($$) that would not necessitate such a pimping of one's program.

BYU ought to get a BCS birth the right way -- by playing a respectable schedule.

If BYU schedules a D-IAA team next season, I'll be pissed. You don't get credibility by kicking the crap out of weak programs.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:31

Georgia gives up a sympathy TD to Hawaii, but nearly scores on the kick off return afterwards. Starting from Hawaii's 6, they should get another score Fo' Shore.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:35

I do hope you return and eat some delicious CROW!!! :side:

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by YBNORMAL - 2008/01/01 22:39

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

Oh, Island, you just missed it, you were SO close with your prediction...:huh: Bedda' luck next time in da SHUGA my BRUDA ;) I'm hoping you'll "man up" and drop in for some humble pie after running your mouth so much.....)

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigoscarson - 2008/01/01 22:40

Island Pipeline wrote:

I know this is a very touchy subject for all of you but any predictions for tomorrows "SUGAR BOWL."

Georgia-28 Hawaii-34

WARRIORNATION IN DA HOUSE!:lol:

I know this is a very touchy subject for you.....but how's Hawaii's schedule next year?

have you seen Colt Brennans backup? not bad

Brennans box score....22/38 2 fumbles 3 interception 170 yards and no TDs

He should apologize and give Ty Detmer his passing yards record back

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by YBNORMAL - 2008/01/01 22:40

Wow Cougar Peasant, we were on the same wavelength there at almost the exact same time.....:ohmy:

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigoscarson - 2008/01/01 22:42

craigoscarson wrote:

GA 52 Hawaii 21

I overestimated Hawaii and Georgias quarterbacks:laugh:

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:48

This has turned into a most craptacular game with all the turnovers, time outs, incomplete passes, and going out of bounds. Hawaii, fall on your sword already. You are out of it and won't come back.

Georgia, keep running the ball and stay in bounds. I want to go to bed!!!!!!

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:49

YBNORMAL wrote:

Wow Cougar Peasant, we were on the same wavelength there at almost the exact same time.....ohmy:

That we are Brada.....errr Brother YBNORMAL. :laugh:

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigscarson - 2008/01/01 22:49

Hipsdamann wrote:

hypercoug wrote:

I am watching the game with Island Pipeline. He says that because he is a bit too drunk to post, I should post for him. Here is what he says:

Hey my BYU Bradas! Don't lose the faith my bradas! Us rainbows was down 21 to UW also, and we pulled it out! You'll see it in the second half my bradas!

I'll be talking to you after the game my BRADAS!!!

PS - Did you see my BRADA nail the punt returner at the beginning of the game?! A little hawaiian love smackin' down on Georgia! Just wait till after the game when the bottles begin flying, my Bradas!

You should tell him to stop drinking and start praying that Hawaii even looks half way decent against Georgia

I suggest he find the nearest liquor store before they close and stock up, the next few days are going to suck :unsure:

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by sjcougfan - 2008/01/01 22:52

sjcougfan wrote:

I don't think the weak schedule Hawaii has played has prepared them for the kind of team they'll face today, Georgia is an excellent team, they are going to get worked!

That being said. and despite the multitude of annoying posts by pipeline, I will always root for non BC$ teams vs BC$.

38-17 Georgia

I was way off on my prediction. ;)

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:54

I didn't make a prediction, but I got my wish!!!!:laugh:

CougarPeasant wrote:

I think being rewarded for weak scheduling sucks. I want weak scheduling teams to be exposed. Therefore, I want to see Georgia wax Hawaii so that Mendenhall will stop this stupid plan of scheduling down because he thinks that's the only way to get into a BCS bowl game.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/01/01 22:58

Now we are going to hear that Georgia is the PEOPLE'S CHAMPION, like Auburn claimed in 2004.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by craigscarson - 2008/01/01 22:58

So the next question is where does BYU finish this year?

I think Hawaii will take a huge nosedive

We'll pass Clemson, Illinois and I imagine Hawaii

Arizona State? Florida?

Potentially we could end up as high as 11-12 but I'm guessing 14 sounds about right

BCS Standings

1. Ohio State 11-1
 2. LSU 11-2
 3. Virginia Tech 11-2
 4. Oklahoma 11-2
 5. Georgia 10-2
 6. Missouri 11-2
 7. USC 10-2
 8. Kansas 11-1
 9. West Virginia 10-2
 10. Hawaii 12-0
 11. Arizona State 10-2
 12. Florida 9-3
 13. Illinois 9-3
 14. Boston College 10-3
 15. Clemson 9-3
 16. Tennessee 9-4
 17. BYU 10-2
 18. Wisconsin 9-3
 19. Texas 9-3
 20. Virginia 9-3
 21. South Florida 9-3
 22. Cincinnati 9-3
 23. Auburn 8-4
 24. Boise State 10-2
 25. UConn 9-3
- =====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by redhdqtnlv - 2008/01/01 23:10

sjcougfan wrote:

I have read several comments from people saying Hawaii's pathetic performance hurts BYU's chances to make a BC$ game, my question is why?

If BYU is ranked in the top 12 and meets whatever other qualifications that are in place, then they get in, plain and simple, if you want to argue that the loss will make it harder for BYU to move up in the rankings, I suppose that argument might have some validity.

You are right, it will not make a difference.

Unless the BCS changes the rule regarding SOS in the formula, Hawaii's performance will have absolutely no bearing on whether BYU gets in to the BCS. They will continue to move up the polls AS LONG AS THEY WIN. Plain and simple.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by detmer4prez - 2008/01/02 00:47

craigoscarson wrote:

So the next question is where does BYU finish this year?

I think Hawaii will take a huge nosedive

We'll pass Clemson, Illinois and I imagine Hawaii

Arizona State? Florida?

Potentially we could end up as high as 11-12 but I'm guessing 14 sounds about right

BCS Standings

1. Ohio State 11-1
2. LSU 11-2
3. Virginia Tech 11-2
4. Oklahoma 11-2
5. Georgia 10-2
6. Missouri 11-2
7. USC 10-2
8. Kansas 11-1
9. West Virginia 10-2
10. Hawaii 12-0
11. Arizona State 10-2
12. Florida 9-3
13. Illinois 9-3
14. Boston College 10-3
15. Clemson 9-3
16. Tennessee 9-4
17. BYU 10-2
18. Wisconsin 9-3
19. Texas 9-3
20. Virginia 9-3
21. South Florida 9-3
22. Cincinnati 9-3
23. Auburn 8-4
24. Boise State 10-2
25. UConn 9-3

My prediction: we will pass 2-3 teams and get jumped by Texas. Final standing of 15th. Not to bad for losing a whole lotta stars from last years team.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Cougarbib2 - 2008/01/02 01:35

I doubt our narrow escape against 6-7 UCLA impressed anyone outside of Cougar Nation. A win is a win and we may move up just based on the record given many voters probably did not even watch the game.

Re BCS next year, you need to understand the effect the voters have on the rankings. Utah and BSU made it hard for voters to blow off mid-majors who are undefeated. UH just made that easier.

It looked like UH got whipped by the #5 team in the country. That might have been the number 1 team in the nation. It sure looked like the #1 defense in the country - even better than the UCLA defense that shut us right down.

I suggest we wait and see what we have next year and let them prove it on the field. They will have that opportunity early and often. If BYU goes 12-0, they will still get in the BCS. If they go 11-1, they better hope the BCS has the mediocre field they had this year, and that Notre Dame still sucks, and that the MWC shows well against BCS teams, etc., or they will not get the ranking needed. If they had been 11-1 this year with only a loss to UCLA, I do not think they would have gotten ranked high enough to force thier way in.

Don't forget that it also depends on whether Boise State or some other Mid Major runs the table. Not clear who that would be next year, but there seems to be one every year lately.

Check all BCS Major Powers, except PAC 10 who has not yet joined the trend and you will find Teams playing only required conference games on the road and scheduling home games with 2-3 cupcakes for non-conference. If you only go on the road 4-5 times and have 2-3 gimmes at home, the BCS conspiracy is trying to ensure tha there are plenty of BCS 12-0, 11-1, and 10-2 teams to fill the top 12 slots.

BCS teams are refusing to play mid-majors as they do not want to take the risk of losing once in a while and they also do not want to give the mid-majors opportunities to get ranked high. It is a conspiracy.

In 2007, this happened to UH when a BCS opponent backed out. They begged Michigan to play them. Michigan went with Appalachian State instead and lost, but just won their bowl game.

The name of the game has become do not lose.

Bib

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by timmyboy - 2008/01/02 01:52

detmer4prez wrote:

craigoscarson wrote:

So the next question is where does BYU finish this year?

I think Hawaii will take a huge nosedive

We'll pass Clemson, Illinois and I imagine Hawaii

Arizona State? Florida?

Potentially we could end up as high as 11-12 but I'm guessing 14 sounds about right

BCS Standings

1. Ohio State 11-1
2. LSU 11-2
3. Virginia Tech 11-2
4. Oklahoma 11-2
5. Georgia 10-2
6. Missouri 11-2
7. USC 10-2
8. Kansas 11-1
9. West Virginia 10-2
10. Hawaii 12-0
11. Arizona State 10-2
12. Florida 9-3
13. Illinois 9-3
14. Boston College 10-3
15. Clemson 9-3
16. Tennessee 9-4
17. BYU 10-2
18. Wisconsin 9-3
19. Texas 9-3
20. Virginia 9-3
21. South Florida 9-3

- 22. Cincinnati 9-3
- 23. Auburn 8-4
- 24. Boise State 10-2
- 25. UConn 9-3

My prediction: we will pass 2-3 teams and get jumped by Texas. Final standing of 15th. Not too bad for losing a whole lotta stars from last years team.

Detmer and Craig - I would agree with your analysis except... they don't release post-bowl game BCS standings.

BYU will likely end up 14-15 in both the USA Today and AP polls, so I get your gist.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by Gymcoug318 - 2008/01/02 02:03

All I have to say is where is Island Pipeline now!!!!:angry: He's talked all this crap for months how good the Bows are? Blah! blah! blah! Ya we barely beat a mediocre team! But we still won! The only reason Hawaii was in a BCS bowl because they had a terrible schedule! And a lot of luck on their side! :silly: They were this close losing too San Jose State! Louisiana Tech and Washington. All three were not very good teams! I am saying that we deserved a bcs bowl this year? No not really. But I don't think Hawaii was more deserving then we were! New Mexico, Utah and Air Force could and would beat Hawaii! So suck on that Island Pipeline! :evil:

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by CAFB_04-12 - 2008/01/02 05:16

CAFB_04-12 wrote:

I don't know much about Georgia's defense, but I just don't see Hawaii not scoring at least 21. I still think they lose by two. Maybe something like Cal vs. AFA. 48 -36. Just a guess really. I guess being on the BCS outside looking in a part of me wants Hawaii to stick it to Georgia, but another part of me has never really forgiven them for taking us to town in 2001.

Well, was I wrong or what! I got close to GA's score, but overestimated (imagine that...) Hawaii's ability to score on a good defense.

This should be a wakeup call to those in power that schedule BYU's non conference games. If you load up with a bunch of patsies then you run the risk of getting embarrassed in your BCS bowl. Losing a good game is one thing. Losing by 31 points is another altogether.

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by rackem - 2008/01/02 05:29

CAFB_04-12 wrote:

CAFB_04-12 wrote:

I don't know much about Georgia's defense, but I just don't see Hawaii not scoring at least 21. I still think they lose by two. Maybe something like Cal vs. AFA. 48 -36. Just a guess really. I guess being on the BCS outside looking in a part of me wants Hawaii to stick it to Georgia, but another part of me has never really forgiven them for taking us to town in 2001.

Well, was I wrong or what! I got close to GA's score, but overestimated (imagine that...) Hawaii's ability to score on a good defense.

This should be a wakeup call to those in power that schedule BYU's non conference games. If you load up with a bunch of patsies then you run the risk of getting embarrassed in your BCS bowl. Losing a good game is one thing. Losing by 31 points is another altogether.

(I said this in another thread but it fit here better.)

Bronco had better sit up and take a good hard look of what "not to do".
This is the perfect example of what could happen if you "dumb down" your schedule.
You may get your money and the prestige of a BCS berth, but you also had better be prepared to be there.

Hawaii wasn't.

Scheduling cupcakes and being the laughing stock of the system doesn't get you many points (in my book).
If Bronco is in it just for the money it brings to the program.... then that ought to be his verbal stand, and prepare his fans, that as he schedules his opponents, (I'm guessing he has something to say about it) "this is the (dumbing down phase) of our program and I don't care how BYU looks as long as I get us there!"

If he wants to rekindle the teams past pride and glory, he won't pull a Hawaii.

BYU is better than that...I hope.

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by ammoncougar1 - 2008/01/02 06:09

Two questions:

Did any of you feel like you were watching a repeat of BYU against Texas A&M after Detmer had won the Heisman?

If bowl games 'count' toward teams/players/coaches stats then why not wait until after all bowl games to award major awards like the Heisman COY etc? Would Tebow still have won?

I know, three questions instead of two...oh well. Just some thoughts.

Go Cougs this year!!!

=====

Re:Hawaii Ready To Rumble

Posted by cszjr - 2008/01/02 06:44

I like the title to this thread.

Hawaii was ready to rumble.

Too bad they showed up at a football game.

=====