

---

(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by draider - 2008/01/17 14:30

---

have got a verbal commitment from 5 star LB Lynn Katoa. I heard he has visited the Utes and told Kyle he will play for the Utes. I dont know how viable it is but interesting non the less. A couple of the Ute boards and cougar board are displaying this rumor. Is there any substance to this or are the Utes just jealous of our class being better than theirs?

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by cougbluetrue - 2008/01/17 14:31

---

This was a rumor from one of the Ute trolls on Cougarboard and it's grown from there. I've only seen it in chatrooms, no where reputable

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by timmyboy - 2008/01/17 14:33

---

I have somewhat reliable information that this is NOT TRUE and that he still plans to attend Colorado.

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by stuckinbig10country - 2008/01/17 14:33

---

Probably not true, seeing as how he is enrolled at the University of Colorado. He graduated early and starts classes on Monday. If he were to drop out of Colorado, he would lose a year. I believe he actually signed a letter of intent (he could do that because he had graduated high school).

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by draider - 2008/01/17 14:39

---

stuckinbig10country wrote:

Probably not true, seeing as how he is enrolled at the University of Colorado. He graduated early and starts classes on Monday. If he were to drop out of Colorado, he would lose a year. I believe he actually signed a letter of intent (he could do that because he had graduated high school).

I did not know he had already enrolled or i obviously would not have posted that rumor i appreciate the info though. I thought there was a chance it could happen but not very likely

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by gregoden - 2008/01/17 14:46

---

draider wrote:

have got a verbal commitment from 5 star LB Lynn Katoa. I heard he has visited the Utes and told Kyle he will play for the Utes. I dont know how viable it is but interesting non the less. A couple of the Ute boards and cougar board are displaying this rumor. Is there any substance to this or are the Utes just jealous of our class being better than theirs? It's one thing to bring in an unsubstantiated rumor in from Cougarboard, but it's totally impermissible when it comes from the Ewete fan site that is 10x worse than Rumorboard. Furthermore, this was brought up sometime last week and beaten to death by Rumorboard by the fact that Katoa is attending classes and is enrolled at CU. This was (1) not at all timely (2) completely false (3) beaten to death as false by another site. In other words, you have brought proven garbage from somewhere else to here.

Are you in cahoots with Shoesnews?

---

=====

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by Island Pipeline - 2008/01/17 14:57

---

stuckinbig10country wrote:

Probably not true, seeing as how he is enrolled at the University of Colorado. He graduated early and starts classes on Monday. If he were to drop out of Colorado, he would lose a year. I believe he actually signed a letter of intent (he could do that because he had graduated high school).

You are correct my friend Lynn Katoa is a BUFFALO.

---

---

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by THEmmb - 2008/01/17 15:01

---

As a side note, does anyone know why he decided to play for CU??

Why would a kid with that much talent, and that many options want to play for a team that is in the dregs of college football like CU?

Perhaps the CU "parties" are back in action. :)

---

---

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by draider - 2008/01/17 15:03

---

gregoden wrote:

draider wrote:

have got a verbal commitment from 5 star LB Lynn Katoa. I heard he has visited the Utes and told Kyle he will play for the Utes. I dont know how viable it is but interesting non the less. A couple of the Ute boards and cougar board are displaying this rumor. Is there any substance to this or are the Utes just jealous of our class being better than theirs? It's one thing to bring in an unsubstantiated rumor in from Cougarboard, but it's totally impermissible when it comes from the Ewete fan site that is 10x worse than Rumorboard. Furthermore, this was brought up sometime last week and beaten to death by Rumorboard by the fact that Katoa is attending classes and is enrolled at CU. This was (1) not at all timely (2) completely false (3) beaten to death as false by another site. In other words, you have brought proven garbage from somewhere else to here.

Are you in cahoots with Shoesnews?

Hence the reason i put RUMOR in capital letters. And i miss some of the threads because there are so many selling shoes etc. that half the threads go straight to the next page. So chill out GregOden. You didnt have to respond to it...or even acknowledge it. I was given the correct info on the topic and immediately realized there was no substance to it, something i did not know or hear before. Although i should have just asked you right cuz im sure your full of information....Why doesnt every post go straight to you so can analyze it and make sure it is suitable to be on here. OR should i just PM you next time and ask permission.

---

---

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by imuakahuku - 2008/01/17 15:26

---

I heard a rumor that he was xfering to Utah BECAUSE the parties were over...kidding.

But I did hear a RUMOR (in caps so it's okay), that the utes were sackless. Is that true? :ohmy:

---

---

Re:(RUMOR)ive heard the UTES

Posted by ND/BYU - 2008/01/17 15:47

---

stuckinbig10country wrote:

Probably not true, seeing as how he is enrolled at the University of Colorado. He graduated early and starts classes on Monday. If he were to drop out of Colorado, he would lose a year. I believe he actually signed a letter of intent (he could do that because he had graduated high school).

To the best of my knowledge even if you have graduated you sign the intent the same day as everyone else. I know ND has had several early players enroll early and they all signed the same day as everyone else. there is only one national signing day, the only way he could sign early is if he graduated last year and signed last year.

I agree it is not true, I cannot see a player enrolling in school at CU and then signing to be a Yewt.

=====