
BYU vs. Airforce

Posted by loopycoug - 2008/03/01 07:18

Since the Mtn is not showing this game, does anyone know if BYUTV is picking it up?

=====

Re:BYU vs. Airforce

Posted by decloucug - 2008/03/01 09:15

can they legally do that? will the mtn let them?

=====

Re:BYU vs. Airforce

Posted by BYUtx - 2008/03/01 09:22

This is a very interesting question and I think it indicates the level of idiocy and dishonesty prevalent in the MWC. IIRC, the reason that the MWC has refused to relenquish its right to BYUtv in the past was that they thought that it would take some pressure off of Satellite companies to pick up the network. Now that the the first stone has fallen (DirecTV), it seems like that reason is no longer valid. If they refused to allow BYUtv to air tonight's game (I 100% GUARANTEE that the school asked for the right to do so), what would be the justification? I can only think of one. To quote most 18-month-olds: "Mine!"

Anyone else feel like the MWC may be out to screw us? Craig Thompson said last week on the radio that there were only 5 or 6 men's BB games not televised. (4 of which are/will be BYU games!!!) What the?

But to answer the question, I think it's safe to assume it won't be broadcast, especially considering we haven't heard anything at this point.

=====

Re:BYU vs. Airforce

Posted by cougarfan144 - 2008/03/01 09:35

It's funny that in another statement posted in a thread on this site, the MWC said it would be unfair to over televise BYU while leaving Wyoming or some other school without the same amount of televised games. Then they turn around and don't show BYU on 4 of the 5/6 games that won't be on television. Clearly they are talking out both sides of their mouth and not a brain to be found between the two sides.

=====

Re:BYU vs. Airforce

Posted by Mars - 2008/03/01 14:40

Prepare yourself to listen at KSL.com.

=====