Is he from Logan, UT?

Do you see him making an impact next year?

He played last year at Logan HS. He was a solid player but didn't get much attention. I am not sure how long he has been in the states, but i think it is just a few years. I guess he was really raw, and has developed into a great prospect. I think the Cougs stole one here!

Just from watching the video on him, you can tell he is more athletic than your run-of-the-mill, stereotypical BYU recruit.

Hopefully he can step in and make an immediate impact.

He looks like he's going to be a real exciting player. I can't wait to get him here.

Go Cougs!
