
bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by gmoney - 2008/03/16 10:11

Holy shit murdock sucks, he missed 2 wide open 3s and made 3 really really stupid fouls and got a grand total of 0 points. I am so upset with him. Am i the only one that thinks JIMMER should start in place of him for the tournry???? They guys scores, drives, plays defense(not fouling on 3 pointers) and has handles.

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by MizzouCoug - 2008/03/16 11:59

Old topic bro. I agree, but it's too late to change the lineup now. We can only hope, as has been suggested, that TP watches the game tape numerous times and returns to the team next year. Then Jimmer will start along with everyone else, SB excluded.

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by bennyhaha - 2008/03/16 12:12

This is ridiculous, Why do we think it is going to be such a good idea to change everything that has worked very well all year. We win 14 conference games while dominating the conference, and lose a road game to a pretty good UNLV team and now everything is just falling apart. We had better bench JT, Trent and cummard too. everyone just relax, we are going to get our win in the first round of the NCAA's

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by connecticutcougar - 2008/03/16 12:42

bennyhaha wrote:

This is ridiculous, Why do we think it is going to be such a good idea to change everything that has worked very well all year. We win 14 conference games while dominating the conference, and lose a road game to a pretty good UNLV team and now everything is just falling apart. We had better bench JT, Trent and cummard too. everyone just relax, we are going to get our win in the first round of the NCAA's

Agreed! The lineup has worked for 34 games so far, no reason to change it for the biggest games of the season.

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by Gunk - 2008/03/16 14:26

I am certainly not impressed with Murdock's PG abilities or lack thereof, but I prefer Jimmer as SG. The PG's job at BYU is to pass, pass and pass some more. Jimmer is a scorer, so unless Rose changes the role of the BYU PG I say keep Jimmer as a SG.

I think with a good off season Loyd has some potential. He's quicker than Murdock, especially on defense where Murdock is a liability. Anyone notice if the other team has a dominant PG we don't stick Murdock on him. He can't stay in front of his man. Jimmer is a little bit better at it, but he was having a hard time staying in front of Terry last night.

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by LaytonCougar - 2008/03/16 14:46

I agree Murdock struggled, but I was just as disappointed with Burgess. We needed him to have a big game and he just didn't show up. I have an idea lets leave Wink open in the corner after he has hit 2 in a row. I know Murdock isn't a shooter, but man we could have used those open threes he missed.

FYI, that supposed foul on Murdock when Terry shot the three was horrible. He had no shot a jumped into Murdock. I was ten rows up right where it happened..

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by CDH - 2008/03/16 15:15

Hell lets just throw out the whole basketball program. We still are the best team in the conference. We have the best players the best coaches, but the the MWC officials are not on our side yet. Im not gonna complain about the refs but I will complain about the home court advantadges. The conference is a crock I hope BYU leaves them behind.

=====

Re:bench murdock start jimmer

Posted by Gunk - 2008/03/16 15:31

I like how people complain about the refs and then say something like, "I'm not going to blame the refs."

If you really aren't going to blame or complain about the officiating, then don't do it.

=====