
TV for Thursday's game?

Posted by NikeFootball - 2008/03/18 10:25

Does anyone know who is going to broadcast the game on Thursday? Here in Provo, I hope that it will be on channel 2, is that a possibility?

I don't think that it can be on any other channel but CBS (I'm not 100% sure on that now that CSTV is CBS Sports Channel, but I'm 87.6% sure). Our game is at 5 p.m. on CBS. I highly doubt that it will be a national game, but here in Utah we will see the whole thing.

For those not in the shadow of the Wasatch Mountains, MMOD is great!
Here's a link to sign up for a vip pass the site says that they are almost out of vip passes.

The game appears to be on CBS.

Yeah- ALL the games are on CBS. They have exclusive rights to every single game of the tournament, whether by tv or online. The BYU game on thursday night is scheduled to tip @ 5:25 MT. MMOD IS available for everyone to watch BYU.. OUTSIDE of the Salt Lake/Provo area.

So, since I am in California I have to watch it online? Seems kind of odd since the game is being played in California. At least I have an online login and a relatively fast connection.

You might get to see the whole thing, but CBS tends to switch from game to game in the non-local (local to the schools playing) markets. When I was growing up in Arizona, we would get 5-10 minute stretches of BYU's NCAA tournament games, depending on who else was playing.

Even in the local areas they will switch to the end of close games (happened during the BYU-Syracuse game in 2004). BYU was down by 10 at the time, but you could watch their comeback on the ticker.

March Madness VIP passes are going fast

Anyone know if the game will be broadcast in HD? That'd be nice.
