I saw that one, which is the one I thought you were sharing. He looks like he's scouting out some future Cougs as well. ;)

To post a picture, right-click the picture and go to properties. Copy the url. Then open up a new message, click the button img. It will put wording in the message box (

Simply paste the url in between the two "tags". You can adjust the size (where it will show the number 150) to make it the size you wish.

I'm just trying to be helpful.

Welcome to CB mom! It's always great to have the parents of our beloved Cougars on board. Aside from the occasional "wolfieisms" the posters are quite supportive of our players. There are still posts on this board about cougars of yore. And with all the success that BYU has had these last few years, a lot of the "realists" have decided to take doom and his friend gloom over to the "red" sites! All in all a great place to get some nice tidbits of BYU info and discuss the Cougars. Tell Robbie for all of us GO COUGARS!

I would love to hear an explanation for the boots and suit combo.

Not sure about Elder Buckner's mission, but we had to pull that combo when it rained real hard and it flooded the streets from time to time.

Same, I had some sweet moon-boot looking things that went over my shoes and every missionary had a full rain gear suit. Very hot once you got walking.

Robbie is in Madagascar correct?

Robbie Buckner is serving his mission in Africa, Mozambique, Maputo Mission it is right just north of South Africa. He is in a rural area no paved streets and mud every where they wear the boots everyday. It's very hot and humid!!! He loves it though!!!

Thats right. I think Fuga is in Madagascar. Best of luck to Robbie, looks like he is doing great.
