

---

new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/03/11 13:44

---

The new stadium will feature 2140 seats and say BYU in white in a blue block surrounding, similar to the football stadiums. It will be finished this summer in July.
<http://www.byucougars.com/Filing.jsp?ID=10454>

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by Mars - 2008/03/11 19:06

---

TimO wrote:

<http://www.byucougars.com/Filing.jsp?ID=10454>

Basically they're just adding some permanent bleachers along one side of the soccer stadium, right?

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/03/21 12:00

---

pretty much-i guess a few more seats with a BYU look...does that mean they'll fill up all the way? probly not-sorry girls.

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/03/21 12:18

---

will they use it for lacrosse

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by Hipsdamann - 2008/03/21 12:19

---

I hope they do

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by mjo - 2008/03/21 12:19

---

TimO wrote:

pretty much-i guess a few more seats with a BYU look...does that mean they'll fill up all the way? probly not-sorry girls.

You'd be surprised, but they actually do fill up the stadium most of the time. From the article: "South Field consistently ranks among the NCAA top 10 in attendance for women's soccer"... That's one of the reasons for adding bleachers (a.k.a. "Renovating the stadium").

I've been to a couple of matches and although not terribly entertaining, they are kinda fun to watch. Plus I have a thing for soccer girls...

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/06/06 13:13

---

The stands are almost half way done, they've built it quickly!

---

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by Isola - 2008/06/06 13:44

---

TimO wrote:

The stands are almost half way done, they've built it quickly!

Any word on where to find pictures or even redurings of what it is to look like? You are my source for BYU pictures with the BYU truck and all. You got your karma, by the way.

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by treck - 2008/06/06 13:46

---

This stadium is overdue and will really add to the experience. The lighting will especially help...there were a few dark spots on the field before.

Both BYU teams do a great job and attendance seems to be strong. The womens' games have always been fun family events for us. Clearly not as fast as the mens' game, but BYU's Katie Larkin is always the best player on the field no matter who we are playing. She is worth the price of admission.

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by Isola - 2008/06/06 13:54

---

I found a renduring of the stadium. Looks pretty nice, especially with the Maeser(sp) building in the back ground.

<http://pdl.uslsoccer.com/imgs/home/BYU-stadium-renovation-art.jpg>

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/06/11 17:00

---

The entire structure has been completed except for the box up top, now the seat benches are being placed on and then the BYU will soon be visible to see.

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by lawman - 2008/06/11 18:34

---

Isola wrote:

I found a renduring of the stadium. Looks pretty nice, especially with the Maeser(sp) building in the back ground.

<http://pdl.uslsoccer.com/imgs/home/BYU-stadium-renovation-art.jpg>

karma for the cool picture!

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/06/22 12:37

---

---

lawman wrote:

Isola wrote:

I found a rendering of the stadium. Looks pretty nice, especially with the Maeser(sp) building in the back ground.

<http://pdl.uslsoccer.com/imgs/home/BYU-stadium-renovation-art.jpg>

karma for the cool picture!

that's not what it looks like...

yet anyways, underneath each stand is blue, and they haven't added the BYU...each day i drive past it about 5 times and it doesn't seem like they are doing anything else to it.

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/06/26 14:01

---

As of today June 26, the stands have backs for each seat for comfort. And the awesome detail of the Y logo in the actual metal bars along the sides for holding as you go up/down the seats. Quite cool

=====

Re:new stadium for both men/women

Posted by TimO - 2008/07/02 13:34

---

now the entrance is being finished. It'll be done by next week

=====