
UCLA catches another break

Posted by detmer4prez - 2008/03/23 09:27

I have been one that is critical of whining about officiating but...

<http://media.scout.com/media/image/53/532769.jpg>

I thought this was a funny pic of the last play of the game.

=====

Re:UCLA catches another break

Posted by Raiderboy - 2008/03/24 07:27

Officiating has such a huge impact on the outcome of games, in almost every sport.

Probably even more in basketball where there are at least 20-30 judgement calls made every game. And every single one of those calls can potentially swing the game by 4 points in one team's favor.

I would honestly be in favor of challengable instant replay in the last 2 minutes of basketball games or something. But it will never happen because there isn't the nice little pause between plays like there is in football.

There are ways they could implement it though. I'm so tired of seeing games end unfairly.

=====

Re:UCLA catches another break

Posted by LaytonCougar - 2008/03/24 09:33

detmer4prez wrote:

I have been one that is critical of whining about officiating but...

<http://media.scout.com/media/image/53/532769.jpg>

I thought this was a funny pic of the last play of the game.

I wasn't going to say anything, but it was obviously a foul from my couch view let alone the ref's view. What is the most disappointing part about it is if it had been the other way around they would have called a foul... Can't argue the evidence...

=====