
Any rumors of Next Year BYU Basketball Schedule?

Posted by DeafBYUSports - 2008/03/23 00:26

Who comes and where is the place BYU goes?

I know several from this past year: Wake Forest, Boise St., and Long Beach St. we played on the road that they will come to our place.

The team we played at home that we may play on the road: Pepperdine, Hartford (?), Loyola Marymount(?), etc.

Just wondering what is next year look like? :)

I think the deal was that we go to UCLA in 2006, and they come here in 2008, so I think we get them next year, which would test our homecourt.

I also think we get Boise State. I hope so, because i would love to pounce those annoying fans up there. Let them have their 3 point win; I can't want to blow them out by 20! :cheer:

Wow, UCLA in the Marriott will be a challenge - I don't think they lose any of their starters off of this year's team unless someone goes pro early. It'll be a great test to see if Morgan at PG is as quick as we think he is, or Fredette or Martineau or Lloyd or Emery or ...

Sorry, the UCLA game was a one shot deal, they will not be coming up to the Marriot Center. Wake Forest is, and that should be an exciting game.

I think we should take some other games like the UCLA game from 2 years ago. So what if they don't give us a return game, and our team needs experience playing in hostile environments.

Exactly! Keep scheduling teams even if we have to go on the road. It can only help right?? We need games like that to help prepare us mentally and physically.

WF will be a challenge to the homecourt streak. They don't lose anybody from the team that smoked BYU this year and they add the best recruiting class in the country.

Sorry but UCLA has the best class with 4 incoming McDonald all-americans including the Gatorade Player of the year (that's two years in a row).

This line to Rivals.com shows Wake Forest at #1 and UCLA #2

I say there's a lot of start between them.

Wake Forest and Boise State in Provo.

BYU at Arizona State.

We need to schedule as tough as possible. We've had winnable tourney games, but I think a weak OOC schedule has left us a little soft. We have the talent next year. We should be trying to get big boys on the road if we have to. It is not like football where you can get beat up. High intensity, big-time games during the regular season is the only way to break through in the post-season.

Go Cougs!!!!!!!!!!!!
