BYU came from behind 7-3 to win

The BYU baseball team snapped its six-game losing streak in dramatic fashion last night. J.T. Musso hit a three-run home run in the 10th inning as BYU rallied to beat UNLV 10-7 in a Mountain West Conference game in Las Vegas. The Cougars (13-16, 4-3) trailed 7-3, but scored four runs in the eighth inning to tie the game. Junior Jordan Muir, a Las Vegas native, threw six-plus innings and struck out seven to keep BYU within striking distance. The teams meet again tonight for game two of three in the series.
