Anyone hear anything about whether or not games will be available for on-line pay per view? I know they didn't last year because they wanted "to pressure the satellite companies". Just curious if anyone knows

Thanks

Are there areas not covered by Directv? Maybe way out in the boonies they don't have it which may be your case. However, if you have access to Directv and don't get it then what kind of fan are you? I switched to Comcast just to watch the Cougars. I am glad I have options now.

There are a lot of BYU fans abroad who would pay for pay-per-view access on the internet. My guess is that now the Mtn has a satellite deal in place any online pay-per-view plans will be squashed. It doesn't explain why the games aren't available on iTunes after a couple days though. The Mtn is creating a demand for Slingboxes.
