
Dave Rice gets a Raise

Dave Rice was promoted today from Assistant to Associate Head Coach.

Personally, I feel that Rice would make a good head coach if Rose ever left.

From Potkey's blog:

Dave Rice can change the title on his business cards from assistant coach to associate head coach.

Sounds like a promotion from Assistant to the regional Manager, to Assistant Regional Manager

They're not going to give him an office, but he can use the conference room as a "work space." He also no longer has to do Rose's laundry. Its a big deal really.

Nice! Good for him. I think he's a good coach. I wonder if he's better at making mid-game adjustments than Rose.

I think Rice would make a great head coach... I just doubt it would ever be at BYU, unless he joins the church. But props to him, he's a huge asset to the team.
