Anyone else find it odd that former Freshman All-American WR Austin Collie isn't on the pre-season list?

There weren't many FR WR's better than Collie in 04 (either actually better or as viewed by the media). There were several non-FR WR's that were much better than Collie last year and several that will be better than him this year (AS PERCEIVED BY THE MEDIA, of course). I am not surprised at all. Now, if this were the MWC pre-season list, I'd be pissed.

i wouldn't be too surprised-the mtn,/mwc wouldn't surprise me by a move like that, not to mention hall being a 2nd team.
