
A moment of silence...

Posted by Florwood - 2008/04/23 17:11

in memory of those who posted and posted, and then went away. Here are some favorites, agreeable or not, and the last time they visited Cougarblue:

Phasibone 7/8/07
catholicmat 11/12/07
rustyshackleford 12/2/07
alhrabosky 1/12/08
NorCalCoug 1/29/08
platypusdown 2/7/08
Airwolf84 2/26/08
dYrtbYkerYder 3/25/08

I know I'm missing a whole bunch, like Jefe, but I couldn't find everybody. Anyone else you miss?

Fortunately others we grew to look for are still lurking, if not posting:

cruiser 4/18/08

I would love it if this were a permanent moment of silence for Airwolf. But, alas, I fear he will rear his ugly avatar around August probably.

Lehicoug, but doesn't he come home from his mission soon?

Wow! I wasn't aware. Even though I don't post often, I don't think I've missed reading the posts more than 10 days in the last 3 years. Some of these guys were a lot of fun and some were quite insightful. Then there's Airwolf, who just has to be the sports reincarnation of my ex-wife. Hopefully he has moved on to anything else.

I was starting to miss reading my own posts, so I have made a couple today. This is a tough time of year for football junkies.

Go Cougs

I won't lie... I really miss Catholicmat. Dude always had me laughing. And Airwolf was consistantly an interesting one to read from. I like the way he made me think, and he would turn a post into a 30 page argument in about an hour. He did finally admit that Beck was the real deal back in '06, and that was a nice mini-victory for the posters back then.

Dalestephenson ??/??/06
Engineer?? ??/??/??

I miss their stats.

Haw haw haw! That's a good one.

I miss all these guys too, except airwolf. When he speaks to the subject judiciously he's as interesting as some of the rest of you but when he speaks negatively, I go somewhere else. C'mat was a lot of fun. He never put a lot of words in but said well what he said. Hopefully some (the Lehi guy) will join in after missions.

I was going to put him in a different subcategory...and then forgot to post him.:blush: I am having a hard time remembering but it is sometime mid to late summer when he gets back. I hope he does not get turned off by the "new" CB.:ohmy:

That's seems about right. Kitic would also go into that "subcategory"
