

---

Foxsports.net\'s predictions for upcoming season

Posted by CougarPokes - 2008/04/24 10:17

---

Foxsports.net has its twenty burning questions for the upcoming year answered. Surprisingly enough question number 1 is who will win the Heisman? The list included Max Hall. However, further down the list it asks, who will break the BCS this year? Answer, Fresno State with BYU a close second. Fresno freaking state!!! Give me a break!!

http://community.foxsports.com/blogs/Lisa%20H/2008/04/22/20\_burning\_questions\_going\_into\_football\_season

=====

Re:Foxsports.net\'s predictions for upcoming season

Posted by jimmyz2 - 2008/04/24 10:29

---

Truthfully, I would rather the media talk about Fresno, Hawaii, BSU, TCU . . . anyone but BYU. The last couple of years, our team has seemed to believe too much in their own press hype and paid for it dearly and embarrassingly on the field in the early going. Let them talk about anyone else they want. I would rather have them say BYU is a joke than say they are good. It is almost as if Brigham Young's concern that the Saints can withstand any amount of hardship, but please don't give them riches, is coming true with the football team.

=====

Re:Foxsports.net\'s predictions for upcoming season

Posted by StatCougar - 2008/04/24 10:51

---

To worry too much about what was written. After reading the whole thigng, the author doesn't seem to bright. After all, they included Central Florida and Florida Atlantic in the list of possible BCS busters. And neither of those teams has a chance.

=====