

---

Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 14:32

---

As I've mentioned previously, I'm working temporarily in the Bay Area and staying in San Jose.

Today in Priesthood Mtg they asked for volunteers to provide transportation for the YM/YW to a fireside tonight at the San Jose South Stake.

Not wanting to be considered a slothful servant and feeling in need of some blessings, I quickly raised my hand as high as I could and offered to give up my plans for this evening and make the sacrifice of time and gas to transport some youth to the fireside.

BTW, Bronco and "one of his players" are speaking.

Oh the sacrifices one must make... ;)

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by WACoug - 2008/04/27 14:35

---

Conosticator wrote:

As I've mentioned previously, I'm working temporarily in the Bay Area and staying in San Jose.

Today in Priesthood Mtg they asked for volunteers to provide transportation for the YM/YW to a fireside tonight at the San Jose South Stake.

Not wanting to be considered a slothful servant and feeling in need of some blessings, I quickly raised my hand as high as I could and offered to give up my plans for this evening and make the sacrifice of time and gas to transport some youth to the fireside.

BTW, Bronco and "one of his players" are speaking.

Oh the sacrifices one must make... ;)

Jerk.

;)

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by craigscarson - 2008/04/27 14:38

---

Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 14:47

---

craigscarson wrote:

Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

I was thinking more along the lines of asking for the inside scoop on Manti...

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/04/27 14:53

---

---

Conosticator wrote:
craigoscarson wrote:
Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

I was thinking more along the lines of asking for the inside scoop on Manti...

If he tells you Manti is a done deal and will sign with BYU, I'll pay for your gas too. Provided Manti actually signs. :P

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 15:08

---

CougarPeasant wrote:
Conosticator wrote:
craigoscarson wrote:
Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

I was thinking more along the lines of asking for the inside scoop on Manti...

If he tells you Manti is a done deal and will sign with BYU, I'll pay for your gas too. Provided Manti actually signs. :P

Promise to pay to fill my tank if he does? I promise not to drive my there with my motorhome (110 gallon tank).

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by craigoscarson - 2008/04/27 18:01

---

Conosticator wrote:
CougarPeasant wrote:
Conosticator wrote:
craigoscarson wrote:
Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

I was thinking more along the lines of asking for the inside scoop on Manti...

If he tells you Manti is a done deal and will sign with BYU, I'll pay for your gas too. Provided Manti actually signs. :P

Promise to pay to fill my tank if he does? I promise not to drive my there with my motorhome (110 gallon tank).

If he tells you that Manti is 100% and is going to sign and then Manti does; I'd be more than happy to fill your motorhome. $300 is a discount to get the best linebacker recruit in BYU history here.

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/04/27 18:05

---

craigoscarson wrote:
Conosticator wrote:
CougarPeasant wrote:
Conosticator wrote:
craigoscarson wrote:
Ask Bronco what he's going to do with Chambers and Sorenson next year. :silly: (If he answers you, I'll pay for your gas).

I was thinking more along the lines of asking for the inside scoop on Manti...

If he tells you Manti is a done deal and will sign with BYU, I'll pay for your gas too. Provided Manti actually signs. :P

Promise to pay to fill my tank if he does? I promise not to drive my there with my motorhome (110 gallon tank).

---

If he tells you that Manti is 100% and is going to sign and then Manti does; I'd be more than happy to fill your motorhome. $300 is a discount to get the best linebacker recruit in BYU history here.

Agreed, but just don't give the $300 to Manti, that would be bad. ;)

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Iceman - 2008/04/27 19:33

---

Go with our blessings, brother. Your bravery will not soon be forgotten. Is Manti here yet?

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 20:28

---

Now I've learned the real meaning of sacrifice.

Just as I was ready to leave for the Church to meet the YM & YW, I got a call from the Bishop telling me they have enough parents available to drive so they didn't need me.

I offered to help out anyway but got turned down.

Good thing the Bishop was in a hurry and had to hang up.

My next step after pleading was gonna be begging and crying. <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/cry.gif>

Wonder if groveling would have worked??? <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/bowdown.gif>

And all this time I thought the Bishop was inspired... <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/clueless.gif>

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by ammoncougar1 - 2008/04/27 21:31

---

Conosticator wrote:

Now I've learned the real meaning of sacrifice.

Just as I was ready to leave for the Church to meet the YM & YW, I got a call from the Bishop telling me they have enough parents available to drive so they didn't need me.

I offered to help out anyway but got turned down.

Good thing the Bishop was in a hurry and had to hang up.

My next step after pleading was gonna be begging and crying. <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/cry.gif>

Wonder if groveling would have worked??? <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/bowdown.gif>

And all this time I thought the Bishop was inspired... <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/clueless.gif>

Haven't you heard of caller ID? You never answer a call (phone call that is) from the Bishop. Especially right before an important assignment!

Go Cougs!!!

=====

---

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 21:42

---

ammoncougar1 wrote:

Conosticator wrote:

Now I've learned the real meaning of sacrifice.

Just as I was ready to leave for the Church to meet the YM & YW, I got a call from the Bishop telling me they have enough parents available to drive so they didn't need me.

I offered to help out anyway but got turned down.

Good thing the Bishop was in a hurry and had to hang up.

My next step after pleading was gonna be begging and crying. <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/cry.gif>

Wonder if groveling would have worked??? <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/bowdown.gif>

And all this time I thought the Bishop was inspired... <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/clueless.gif>

Haven't you heard of caller ID? You never answer a call (phone call that is) from the Bishop. Especially right before an important assignment!

Go Cougs!!!

I just moved into the ward. Don't even have my membership record transferred yet. I didn't realize the Bishop had my number.

I had dreams of learning secret inside information... Finding out the scoop about current recruiting... How we plan to contain UW's Locker... How the new pass defenders are coming along... Buckets full of Karma...

Gone!!! All gone!!! Woe is me for I am undone... :S :S :S

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by CougarPeasant - 2008/04/27 21:48

---

karma for the effort Conosticator

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by scott715 - 2008/04/27 21:50

---

Go anyway

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by WACoug - 2008/04/27 22:11

---

scott715 wrote:

Go anyway

Yeah, why didn't you just take yourself?

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

---

Posted by CWC - 2008/04/27 23:19

---

Jeff Reynolds must have read your post and called your bishop asking him to release you from service. ;) JK

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 23:23

---

CWC wrote:

Jeff Reynolds must have read your post and called your bishop asking him to release you from service. ;) JK

Whew!!! I was worried that it was Airhead.

I would have gone anyway but they were pretty adamant about it only being the YM/YW and their leaders. My plan was to sneak in as a "pseudo-leader" by providing transportation.

Why is it that no Bishop has ever called me to say they really don't need my help at that cannery assignment??? Go figure...

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/27 23:26

---

Why don't they do these types of firesides for us 50+ yr old die-hard BYU fans? I'm starting to gain a greater appreciation for Rodney Dangerfield.

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by jhw5 - 2008/04/28 06:43

---

Conosticator wrote:

Why don't they do these types of firesides for us 50+ yr old die-hard BYU fans? I'm starting to gain a greater appreciation for Rodney Dangerfield.

No offense, but hear me out on this: a new-to-the-ward, eager-to-give-rides-to-YM/YW, 50+ yr old man? I'm sure the bishop wasn't real excited about that. ;)

Don't worry, I'd let you give me a ride to a Bronco fireside!

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by NorthernCougar - 2008/04/28 11:30

---

Conosticator wrote:

As I've mentioned previously, I'm working temporarily in the Bay Area and staying in San Jose.

Today in Priesthood Mtg they asked for volunteers to provide transportation for the YM/YW to a fireside tonight at the San Jose South Stake.

Not wanting to be considered a slothful servant and feeling in need of some blessings, I quickly raised my hand as high as I could and offered to give up my plans for this evening and make the sacrifice of time and gas to transport some youth to the fireside.

BTW, Bronco and "one of his players" are speaking.

---

Oh the sacrifices one must make... ;)

My first area on my mission was in the San Jose South Stake. Loved that area. What part of the Bay Area are you in?

BTW, I heard the fireside was cancelled because Bronco couldn't make it. Not sure if that is true but if so, you saved yourself time and money.

=====

---

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by MajorCougar - 2008/04/28 12:03

---

Conosticator wrote:

ammoncougar1 wrote:

Conosticator wrote:

Now I've learned the real meaning of sacrifice.

Just as I was ready to leave for the Church to meet the YM & YW, I got a call from the Bishop telling me they have enough parents available to drive so they didn't need me.

I offered to help out anyway but got turned down.

Good thing the Bishop was in a hurry and had to hang up.

My next step after pleading was gonna be begging and crying. <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/cry.gif>

Wonder if groveling would have worked??? <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/bowdown.gif>

And all this time I thought the Bishop was inspired... <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/clueless.gif>

Haven't you heard of caller ID? You never answer a call (phone call that is) from the Bishop. Especially right before an important assignment!

Go Cougs!!!

I just moved into the ward. Don't even have my membership record transferred yet. I didn't realize the Bishop had my number.

I had dreams of learning secret inside information... Finding out the scoop about current recruiting... How we plan to contain UW's Locker... How the new pass defenders are coming along... Buckets full of Karma...

Gone!!! All gone!!! Woe is me for I am undone... :S :S :S

"..The heavenly aroma still hung in the house. But it was gone, all gone! No turkey! No turkey sandwiches! No turkey salad! No turkey gravy! Turkey Hash! Turkey a la King! Or gallons of turkey soup! Gone, ALL GONE! "

...Ralphie Parker

=====

---

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2008/04/28 12:10

---

Conosticator wrote:

ammoncougar1 wrote:

Conosticator wrote:

Now I've learned the real meaning of sacrifice.

Just as I was ready to leave for the Church to meet the YM & YW, I got a call from the Bishop telling me they have enough parents available to drive so they didn't need me.

I offered to help out anyway but got turned down.

---

Good thing the Bishop was in a hurry and had to hang up.

My next step after pleading was gonna be begging and crying. <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/cry.gif>

Wonder if groveling would have worked??? <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/bowdown.gif>

You still have that motor home with its 100 gallon gas tank...:blink:

And all this time I thought the Bishop was inspired... <http://www.johnstun.org/images/emotes/clueless.gif>

Haven't you heard of caller ID? You never answer a call (phone call that is) from the Bishop. Especially right before an important assignment!

Go Cougs!!!

I just moved into the ward. Don't even have my membership record transferred yet. I didn't realize the Bishop had my number.

I had dreams of learning secret inside information... Finding out the scoop about current recruiting... How we plan to contain UW's Locker... How the new pass defenders are coming along... Buckets full of Karma...

Gone!!! All gone!!! Woe is me for I am undone... :S :S :S

Well, you still have that motor home with its 110 gallon gas tank! :huh:

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by gordito - 2008/04/28 12:10

---

jhw5 wrote:

Conosticator wrote:

Why don't they do these types of firesides for us 50+ yr old die-hard BYU fans? I'm starting to gain a greater appreciation for Rodney Dangerfield.

No offense, but hear me out on this: a new-to-the-ward, eager-to-give-rides-to-YM/YW, 50+ yr old man? I'm sure the bishop wasn't real excited about that. ;)

Don't worry, I'd let you give me a ride to a Bronco fireside!

I'm glad to hear I'm not the only one who thought that.

I guess I need to stop watching Criminal Minds...

=====

Re:Oh the sacrifices one must make...

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/04/28 12:27

---

jhw5 wrote:

Conosticator wrote:

Why don't they do these types of firesides for us 50+ yr old die-hard BYU fans? I'm starting to gain a greater appreciation for Rodney Dangerfield.

No offense, but hear me out on this: a new-to-the-ward, eager-to-give-rides-to-YM/YW, 50+ yr old man? I'm sure the bishop wasn't real excited about that. ;)

Don't worry, I'd let you give me a ride to a Bronco fireside!

Hey man, it's not like I'm a former Catholic Priest or something...

=====

