Great List!!

Am I missing something here? How did Mars get super negative Karma?

I'm investing in his Karma right after this posts.

Go Mars...

Calling A_King a douchebag. I was wrong, but firefighters do have their tempers. If I think an idea is stupid, I say so (no ability to sugarcoat I guess).

At least you didn't resort to visual aids like I did a couple years ago.

Even though Mars is a Sacramento Kings fan :P (arch enemies of my Lakers) he brings facts, insight and passion to this board in a big way and so even if he ripped one off a while back, alas, who am I to cast stones or negative karma for that matter---I have let loose some bad ones too. So karma to Mars (as if he even cares though ;)

I'll give him karma for being a Kings fan. There are too few of us these days and that's a behavior worth rewarding.

Mars has an opinion and isn't afraid to put it in writing. I respect Mars for caring more about his ideas being heard than karma.

Thanks. That doesn't mean I'm not sorry when I offend people or go too far though.

More like Lucifer. You must respect the power of Satan to avoid his traps and double talk. ;)

I thought Mars lost his Karma when he gave his unpopular opinion of the Utah Jazz(and Utah in general)..

Some, yes. You must have forgot, I also dissed bacon, and openly mocked the global warming cult to scorn. And I even claim to like Florida football and Urban Meyer for the most part. There are many minor sins I have to shoulder.

DT 35 Latu Heimuli

From one of Dick Harmon's latest blogs:

" may not be able to predict with any accuracy who exactly will commit next but I'd wager it will be between Highland High's defensive tackle Latu Heimuli (6-4, 205) and Spanish Fork High tight end Richard Wilson (6-4, 215)."

<http://www.deseretnews.com/blogs/1,5322,19,00.html?bD=20080503&sc=dmn>

I would have guessed Latu myself, as he was shown as "High" on BYU with them being his only offer, but then I read this: <http://blogs.sltrib.com/recruiting/2008/05/football-highland-dt-heimuli-big-time.htm>

"The 6-foot-305-pound Heimuli, a junior, told me on Monday that he has four offers right now, from BYU, Utah, Arizona and Colorado. He expects more in the coming weeks. Heimuli said Nebraska, Notre Dame and Colorado were at Highland last week to watch him work out and talk to his coaches. Florida will be in on Friday or Saturday and is trying to set up a workout. Heimuli's coach, Brody Benson, said Georgia coaches are also trying to get in town to see Heimuli.

...Heimuli said that BYU defensive line coach Steve Kaufusi is his father's cousin. He is also related to former BYU and NFL star Vai Sihakema. However, Heimuli said he is not leaning toward BYU, or any other school right now.

"I am pretty wide open... I don't have a favorite, or a leader."

they all say that they are "wide open", even when they really aren't. i think that some of the kids say that so they can collect offers, while the whole time are really only looking at a couple of schools. that being said, i have heard that it is only a matter of time before brett thompson verbals. i have no idea when it will be, but he should be in the conversation.

Interesting. Thompson and Wilson would both be steals from USC!
