
Will USC go unpunished again?

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/05/13 10:42

Another Reggie Bush style scandal at USC. Any bets about the NCAA actually punishing them?

http://sports.espn.go.com/espn/columns/story?columnist=forde_pat&id=3390757&sportCat=ncb

Of course if it is a school like BYU, then the punishment is swiftly meted out. <http://nn.byu.edu/story.cfm/67915>

=====

Re:Will USC go unpunished again?

Posted by domanater - 2008/05/13 13:26

Who knows, did the NCAA ever really pursue the Reggie Bush stuff after the fact?

Honestly, I hope it gets messy and they lose some scholarships; however this is far from a death penalty type of issue so I doubt it hurts their future seasons, aside from how bad it looks to outsiders.

=====