

---

Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2008/05/13 13:52

---

It has been such a while...what say ye? Time for a review:

OVERRATED: Several schools' football programs really got dinged for failure to make academic progress..Two of the most punished, with the loss of 8 scholarships each, were Washington State and Idaho. Curiously, these two schools are just about 7 miles apart...so do you think it is the water?

HURRAH: I love that story about the two softball players who carried their opponent around the bases after she hurt her knee and would not have earned a home run if her own teammates had helped her...the player carried around was on the small side, thank goodness, because just think if this had been Rosie O'Donnel :ohmy: That would have required the whole team eh?

OVERRATED: Let's hear it for Bill Belicheat. I hear Hillary would recruit him to head the NSA's spy satellite program.....Speaking of cheating:

OVERRATED: I saw that OJ Mayo is being charged with accepting money etc during his tenure at USC. I grew up in LA...I wonder when they changed their name to U Start Cheating ?

JUST ANOTHER DAY IN PARADISE: I saw a newspaper headline saying "Quakes, Storms and Riots Take Toll on China." Big deal...That's just another day in California isn't it?

HURRAH: Plaisted wants to go pro..I wish him the best and salute his confidence, but here is some unsolicited advice: dunkashe is a good word to learn and it has nothing to do with scoring over a Ute

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by MajorCougar - 2008/05/13 14:59

---

I heard about the softball story as well. It sounds noble, but, correct me if I'm wrong, isn't there a rule about that if you are injured on the run around the bases on your own power, that the play is ruled a double (or something along those lines?) Just wondering...

As for the USC issue, it will probably get swept under the rug. USC is the "golden boy" of the West.

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/05/13 15:29

---

OVERRATED: Several schools' football programs really got dinged for failure to make academic progress..Two of the most punished, with the loss of 8 scholarships each, were Washington State and Idaho. Curiously, these two schools are just about 7 miles apart...so do you think it is the water?

Anyone familiar with the area knows it's not the water, it's the beer. :cheer:

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Conosticator - 2008/05/13 15:31

---

HURRAH: I love that story about the two softball players who carried their opponent around the bases after she hurt her knee and would not have earned a home run if her own teammates had helped her...the player carried around was on the small side, thank goodness, because just think if this had been Rosie O'Donnel That would have required the whole team eh?

Rosie O'Donnel would have been no problem. She's so full of hot air that she'd probably float around the bases... ;)

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2008/05/13 15:36

---

MajorCougar wrote:

I heard about the softball story as well. It sounds noble, but, correct me if I'm wrong, isn't there a rule about that if you are injured on the run around the bases on your own power, that the play is ruled a double (or something along those lines?) Just wondering...

As for the USC issue, it will probably get swept under the rug. USC is the "golden boy" of the West.

My understanding is that if you cannot make it on your own, you get a single....but there is no rule prohibiting a member of the opposite team assisting you as far as they are willing to assist. So, since it was a home run and no relay throw coming in etc, the opposing team's first baseman and one other player simply picked the injured player up and carried her around the bases, stopping at each base so she could tag it...Pretty cool sportsmanship in my book...

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by jaga97 - 2008/05/13 15:48

---

Overrated: Requiring a player to Run the bases after hitting a home run.

Underrated: Karl Malone's impact on the game and the population.

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by stjohsmythe - 2008/05/13 15:52

---

HURRAH: Jason Chaffetz, former BYU kicker, beat Chris Cannon at the state republican convention 59% to 41%

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by stgeorgefan - 2008/05/16 03:19

---

Overrated: Trent Plaisted... Bro, your good but not NBA good. Have fun in Europe. I think he is seeing the $$ signs.. To bad you'll get one contract and then be shipped to Europe.. BAD CALL TRENT

Overrated: Phil Jackson. Has he ever coached a bad team?? He quit the lakers in their down years. Had MJ, now Kobe. Let him coach the Clippers next year and then we'll see how he fairs..

Underrated: Utah Jazz. They are every bit as good as L.A But for some reason they were penciled in as the NBA champs before the playoffs started..

MISC: Mars dissing the Utah Jazz when his team isn't even in the playoff's.....dry:

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by detmer4prez - 2008/05/16 08:12

---

jaga97 wrote:

Overrated: Requiring a player to Run the bases after hitting a home run.

HaHa. It would be hilarious if you could hit a HR and dance your way to the dugout. I would be excited to see the funny stuff that would happen to Manny Ramirez. Instead of getting a single while admiring his blast that hits off the top of the wall, he would get thrown out at first. :laugh:

---

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Mars - 2008/05/16 21:32

---

stgeorgefan wrote:

MISC: Mars dissing the Utah Jazz when his team isn't even in the playoff's.... :dry:

Cute. Many on this site dissed Hawaii even though BYU wasn't in a BCS Bowl. :dry: :dry:

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Mingjai - 2008/05/19 09:29

---

BoiseBYU wrote:

JUST ANOTHER DAY IN PARADISE: I saw a newspaper headline saying "Quakes, Storms and Riots Take Toll on China." Big deal...That's just another day in California isn't it?

I suppose this is supposed to be a shot at California, but this does seem to be a bit insensitive. Did you ever think there might be members of this board (myself included) who have connections to China?

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by BoiseBYU - 2008/05/19 11:07

---

Mingjai wrote:

BoiseBYU wrote:

JUST ANOTHER DAY IN PARADISE: I saw a newspaper headline saying "Quakes, Storms and Riots Take Toll on China." Big deal...That's just another day in California isn't it?

I suppose this is supposed to be a shot at California, but this does seem to be a bit insensitive. Did you ever think there might be members of this board (myself included) who have connections to China?

Yes. I erred in thinking this would make people like you feel bad. I am sorry.

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Sage - 2008/05/19 11:38

---

Mingjai wrote:

BoiseBYU wrote:

JUST ANOTHER DAY IN PARADISE: I saw a newspaper headline saying "Quakes, Storms and Riots Take Toll on China." Big deal...That's just another day in California isn't it?

I suppose this is supposed to be a shot at California, but this does seem to be a bit insensitive. Did you ever think there might be members of this board (myself included) who have connections to China?

I much prefer the response supplied by the LDS church in doing all they can to send relief and support to those people who are in such incredibly dire straits. The pictures of what those people are going through and the reports are incredible. The news reported a day or so ago that there were 4300 schools that were demolished. That is an incredible number of people who are suffering for the loss of their children. There were very few children who survived the quakes. The Chinese gov has commented that there is to be a huge investigation in why so many schools had been built that were not even close to quake resistant when the money had been spent to make sure they were. People suffer when corruption has its way.

=====

---

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by Metallicat - 2008/05/19 11:42

---

CREEPY: Giambi wearing a gold thong to break out of a slump. Uggghhh

=====

Re:Overrateds, Hurrahs and Other Miscellany

Posted by ABYUFAN - 2008/05/21 16:44

---

For old times sake:
Hurrah.... Bacon

=====