One of my first attempts at highlight video. The quality of video isn't the best but hey it's a little taste of football. I just edited some of Garns and Furious Monkeys vids into one on Jan.

Not bad. Not bad at all. It may not be Garn or Furious Monkey yet, but the more the merrier. Never can have too many youtube videos of BYU football. Plus the all Jorgensen theme will make it nice for when he eventually gets drafted, so that fans of his new team can get 100% Jorgensen. That's worth some karma.

Spidey Loved you u-tube on Jorgenson.

If only they came that often in one game.

Good start. You should definitely get some karma for it.

I think you may have used slow-motion a little too liberally, the music was good for a bit, but I think could have morphed into something a little heavier/darker.

But good work.

While I was watching your video I came across this BYU blue/white spring scrimmage video. It's about 5 minutes long and has some commentary by the fans, players, and Bronco Mendall.

Only been viewed about 100 times so I'm not sure whether everyone has seen it already or not.

thanks everyone for the feedback. I tried sticking with the theme music to the Predator movie. Oh well not bad for a first try.

Nice. Only one problem. When I think of a "predator" Jorgenson is not what comes to mind! That word is used a bit too negatively in this day and age and I'd just as soon NEVER see it used in connection with anything BYU!

Go Cougs!!!

the first highlight against colorado st. Jan barely grabs the leg of the qb and he falls over. I don't mind if he gets a few more of those easy ones next year

Good find CWC, that was pretty good and I agree with the majority of 2nd graders...they will be good. I wonder if Bronco regrets the whole quest for perfection motto, as much as it makes sense to me the media and other teams are going to ride that train for awhile if we lose a game, seriously think about. We lose one game I can see all the signs in opposing stadiums, "So much for your Quest!!" I see his point and I think he had good intentions but man I wonder if he regrets it. Even some one at ESPN misinterpreted it again and that is not going to end, at the beginning of every game it will come up. I doubt that people are going to be asking the team about their PERSONAL quest for perfection.

I was so happy that this had nothing to do with "Dateline".

Jan is a stud and should have a great year. I was pleased with the D-line last year and expect even better things this year. hopefully Chris Hansen is not playing for any of our competition this year and Jan Prey's on quarterback all year long.
