The Deseret Duel comes down to this...

If BYU can win one out of three games in Salt Lake, the first ever Deseret Duel will be ours!!!
Ok, now seriously - what are the odds that our baseball team actually wins one up there?

How could we possibly let this slip away. We had a huge lead.

yuck,
I hate losing to Utah.

Don't worry. We won everything that matters. I'll take FB and men's BB sweeps every year. They can have gymnastics, soccer, volleyball, tennis, checkers, and all the others.

though our baseball is an embarresment and will lose us the des. duel, i completely would commit to losing it every year in exchange for a continuous dominance of most men (real) sports

Guys! Try the baseball gametracker. Hilarious!

I'm the first one to admit that I care about as much about College Baseball as Womens' Curling (no, check that, I care more about Women's curling - those Norwegian girls (gold medal winners in SLC'02)... were hot!) But I was just curious whether or not our Baseball team could actually pull out the win and land BYU the Get-Some-Podunk-Bank-Some-Exposure-Dual Rivalry Trophy. Turns out, CSTV has this Baseball gametracker that's really funny to use. It's seriously like the old 8-bit Nintendo Major League Baseball game (except not all the outfielders run the exact same cardinal direction during a play), and even more fun to play with, since the game's almost over, and BETTER be well in hand with an 11 run lead in the top of the 9th. You can rewind and watch the whole thing in 5 minutes, with these little ice-cream-cone shaped baseball players waddling around on the field. Actually really fun to play with! (I mean, I KNOW you're all as bored with the offseason as I am!) Try it out. Here's the link!
