

---

Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by TimO - 2008/05/25 20:12

---

A currently open poll found on cbssports, shows that Kwhitt is more likely to be fired than unlv's sanford....unlucky.
Poll

Which coach is most likely to be fired in 2008?

6% UNLV's Mike Sanford

19% Arizona's Mike Stoops

9% Utah's Kyle Whittingham

36% Syracuse's Greg Robinson

30% Washington's Ty Willingham

Total Votes: 11897

I would argue that unlv, sdsu (as always these 2 teams have the most 'hotseat coaches' in the conf.

wyoming, then the rest are unsafe to say, with afa, csu working in new coaches still. But if i had to say, i'd bet yewts, then unm, then tcu and finally BYU as most-least likely fired.

here's the site <http://www.sportsline.com/collegefootball> in case you want to vote also note: it's interesting that the "quality" teams we play have coaching changes almost yearly. Our first few non-conf. games last season all had new HCs, OC, or DC's, that's crazy! And if changes aren't being made great "quality" coaches are on the noose-mike stoops, tyWill, (weaker, but nice Brent Guy), and as for next season, UCLA: new everything, except for DC, and Wash: new DC...the only stability i see is on our own BYU

---

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by jeremygeorge - 2008/05/27 10:23

---

This is an error. It is supposed to be Utah State's Brent Guy on the list. Funny that people are still voting that Kyle will be fired in '08, especially considering how easy it is to vote for the other four coaches listed.

http://cbs.sportsline.com/collegefootball/story/10835987?&\_1:col\_1=5&\_1:col\_2=4

---

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by shakeNbake - 2008/05/28 09:29

---

KW will be on the hot seat only as long as the Yewt nation believes it has ascended to a plain beyond the 8 win mark.

Otherwise, with an occasional win over BYU and a yearly date in a bowl game, the Yewt higher-ups will leave him be.

I've said it before and I'll say it again - one great season does not a legacy make.

If they win 8 again this year, it should be interesting to see which way the turds roll off the wagon...

---

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by CougarBandit - 2008/05/28 09:51

---

OK the poll results about KW are funny, but that's all they are. It was initially meant to include Ray Guy at USU as JeremyGeorge said. Some BYU fans spotted it, and in at least one case, invited others to pile on the anti-KW poll. KW is not in any danger. Utah suffers from occasional emotional letdowns, but they're more consistent and better overall than in the McBride era. And since KW has taken over, they're always up for BYU/UU game - whether they win or not is another story...

---

=====

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by TimO - 2008/05/28 12:04

---

CougarBandit wrote:

OK the poll results about KW are funny, but that's all they are. It was initially meant to include Ray Guy at USU as JeremyGeorge said. Some BYU fans spotted it, and in at least one case, invited others to pile on the anti-KW poll. KW is not in any danger. Utah suffers from occasional emotional letdowns, but they're more consistent and better overall than in the McBride era. And since KW has taken over, they're always up for BYU/UU game - whether they win or not is another story...

i'd agree, kwhit-has taken the yewts ABOVE what they ever should acheive, 04 is no more without paying the big bucks...i hope we can hang on to Bronco, as we should be able to, kwhit can have good bowl results and keep losing to BYU, unlv, and occasional air forces, new mexico's.

---

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by shakeNbake - 2008/05/28 12:43

---

CougarBandit wrote:

OK the poll results about KW are funny, but that's all they are. It was initially meant to include Ray Guy at USU as JeremyGeorge said. Some BYU fans spotted it, and in at least one case, invited others to pile on the anti-KW poll. KW is not in any danger. Utah suffers from occasional emotional letdowns, but they're more consistent and better overall than in the McBride era. And since KW has taken over, they're always up for BYU/UU game - whether they win or not is another story...

Ray Guy was a helluva punter too.

---

Re:Which mwc coach is on hot seat?

Posted by stuckinbig10country - 2008/05/28 14:46

---

Its obviously Sanford. I don't know why UNLV wanted him so badly. Maybe it was his USC connection with Robinson, but that is all I can figure. Anyone who even remotely followed those 2003 and 2004 Ute teams (and that includes most BYU fans, just because of the rivalry factor) would have known that it was the QB coach (forgot his name), not the OC that made the offense a success. The QB coach followed Meyer to Florida, and was promoted to OC there.

Its interesting to think how at the beginning of next year, after Sanford gets fired, Bronco could have been named head coach at UNLV. If anyone remembers the timeline, Whittingham was offered the BYU job, actually said he was going to take it, and then changed his mind. During that time, Sanford contacted Bronco, who was going to be out of a job in a matter of hours, about the DC job at UNLV. Had Whittingham actually taken the job, Mendenhall would be in Vegas right now, and be a possible successor to Sanford (although, I think with Bronco as the DC, UNLV wouldn't have been nearly as bad the last 3 years).

---