
Neville Neverland

Posted by TimO - 2008/05/30 12:04

Trent did a great job against Neville for the most part...good enough to sweep them last year anyways, Neville never got into his game, i don't think he's all that good, but will Miles match up against him better or will they use someone else? I think i dislike Neville more than Boilin' boylen which is why i ask.

=====

Re:Neville Neverland

Posted by Gunk - 2008/06/02 14:03

Maybe it's just me, but I don't think Trent did a good job against Neville by any means. The three times they have faced each other Neville always came out on top. This year Neville didn't do as well against us, but if you look back at those games it was because Miles did a lot better job against him. Miles was able to draw more fouls against Neville, which kept Neville on the bench and Miles held Neville to fewer points.

When it comes to guarding anybody taller than himself, Trent stinks at it. Trent's defense is generally questionable. Good luck in the NBA Trent.

=====

Re:Neville Neverland

Posted by CougarBandit - 2008/06/04 12:38

Neville always seemed to think that he should have been named the best MWC center. In any case, he always focused on it as a personal challenge when they were matched up. Last year, I think Plaisted played more within himself and in the team concept vs Neville while Neville became frustrated when he couldn't dominate Plaisted. Neville seemed to totally lose focus when Miles played him.

=====

Re:Neville Neverland

Posted by Yndian - 2008/06/04 14:51

Trent did pretty well against Nevill last year, but the two years before that Nevill DOMINATED him every time (I've tried to forget the 2006 MWC Tournament, when Nevill was sick and still put up 29 and 14 and we lost by four). MacGregor last year and Miles this year were MUCH more effective against him.

=====