You need to support your team

Hey! Thanks! I think it is great to have even an unbiased, unaffected outsider come here and think that Crowton should stay. Seriously, why would you care whether we have musical coaches for the next six years while we wait for the Steve Youngs and Detmers to come back!! My opinion has always resembled yours...but yours is MUCH more believable because you aren't the die hard Cougar fan I am! :D

Thanks for saying what you said. It still hurts to know that we could have a W, from that game. But, if we rewind to Beck's play clock forgetfulness...we could have been ahead anyway without putting it in the hands of Payne. BYU proved everything I believed they were Friday night, and I look very forward to our Conference season! :D

P.S. Hey BSU, now that we spotted you your opportunity back for an undefeated season...USE IT! Take your team all the way. It'd be important for ALL of us! Plus, it is easier to cheer for BSU than Utah. I hate the fact that after one winning season and the potential this season that Utah is getting so much hype! So, BSU you're my personal fave to go all the way. :D

Hey BSU do not pat your team on the back too soon. Grant your team this. Coach Hawkins has been a great tradition at BSU no question. However, I do feel that BSU is overrated and beat a terrible BYU team. Your defense is not very good. Had it been so, BYU would not have scored because we have no running game. A team like Fresno State will beat you, maybe even La Tech. I see BSU losing two to three games as the season goes on. I am not advocating that BYU is better. That is not my intent. My intention is to let you know from a National perspective that BSU is not as good as its fans think they are. We need to fire Crowton, he does nothing for the program any longer.

Yo! BYU fans, you all need to support your team when the going gets rough. Props to those who have endured the painful moments. Shame on those who jump on/off the bandwagon. Bunch of fickle weather fans. Likewise, support your conference members. Utah going to a BCS game is a win-win situation for the whole conference. Stop the jealousy! Love to see a Utah vs. USC game in the BCS. GO NORM CHOW!!!. See what you're missing CougBlue. CHOW...CHOW for now.
